HOPKINS DEFIES 'THE ENEMY'

FIREMEN SAVE INJURED BOY, 14, ON A HIGH ROOF

Lower Him 7 Floors in Canvas Basket.

Firemen rescued a 14 year old boy from the sixth floor roof of the Paradise theater at 231 North Pulaski road early today after he had suffered a leg fracture there in an unusual accident. The firemen, unable to carry him down ladders, lowered him to the ground in a special canvas basket by means of pulley and line.

For nearly 15 minutes during the descent, the boy dangled dangerously in midair while firemen under Chief Thomas Lynch of the 23d battalion lowered him inch by inch.

Doctor Works on Roof.

Before this, the firemen, aided by a neighborhood physician, working on the high roof, put his injured leg in sturdy splints to protect it from possible aggravation during the rescue.

The youngster saved was Steve Bodner, 14 years old, 4217 Kinzie street. About 8 p. m., he and James Jarrell, 13, of 4107 Carroll avenue, and another boy known only as "Johnny" climbed to the roof of the theater to cool off.

Slide Under the Spray.

The roof of the theater building is arched, like an airplane hangar. Water is sprayed over it to cool the interior of the building. To reach the roof, the three boys climbed up fire escapes to the sixth floor, and 30 feet up a perpendicular ladder from that floor to the roof.

Once on the roof, they slid down the water sprayed roof, using it as a chute. A high wall prevented them from going over the side. During a slide Bodner's right leg buckled on a projection and was fractured. That was about 8:30 p. m.

The Jarrell boy and "Johnny" gave up an attempt to carry Bodner down the sheer ladder and the fire escape. Young Jarrell descended and asked George Romine, the theater manager, for help.

Can't Get Him Down.

Romine called Dr. E. E. Stearns, 4159 Madison street, and the physician accompanied Romine to the roof to give the injured boy first aid, easing the pain of the fracture.

There still remained, however, the dangerous task of getting him to the ground. The doctor and the theater manager tried to get the boy over the side, but they, too, found they were unable to take him down the 30 foot ladder.

Firemen were called. Squad 7 and Truck 26 under Chief Lynch responded. They examined the available means of descent, and decided that no one could be carried down the ladder without considerable risk; in addition, the danger of further aggravating the leg injury had to be considered.

By this time it was after midnight, and the Bodner boy had lain on the roof four hours. Chief Lynch ordered the canvas basket rigged up. This is a long, baglike device which will hold an adult of average size. Nearly the entire body except the head is inclosed. The basket was prepared. A pulley and line was made ready.

Protect Injured Leg.

Then firemen skilled in first aid put splints against the injured leg to protect it from further injury. The Bodner boy was put into the basket. The basket was securely strapped. Chief Lynch and several firemen lifted the boy gently over the edge of the roof.

For a moment he dangled there. Then the chief signaled, and the line was slowly played out. The boy descended slowly, firemen taking care not to jolt him or to allow him to swing against the side of the building.

Once or twice during the descent, the boy looked downward, but at no time did he cry in fright or pain. About 15 minutes later the rescue was completed. Half a dozen firemen were waiting on the ground for him. In a few moments he was out of the basket, in a police ambulance, and on his way to the County hospital.

Seize Jap Photographing Shipping in Tampa Port

Tampa, Fla., July 27 (AP).—A 36-year-old Japanese was arrested today after he took photographs of Tampa harbor shipping. He was Kotario Tsuchikane, an employé of Osaka Shosen Kaisha, Ltd., a shipping company.

Picket Union Chief's Home in Evanston

Evanston churchgoers in the northeast district witnessed an unusual sight yesterday morning: A group of 10 pickets marching in front of the home of Emmett Kelly, secretary-treasurer of the Butchers' union [AFL], at 900 Isabella street. The pickets passed out handbills accusing Kelly of trying to force them to join his union.

The bills, signed by the Association of Food Store Employés, Inc., an independent union, said, in part, that "Mr. Emmett Kelly is not a butcher. But Mr. Emmett Kelly wants the butchers of the Evanston Packing company and the Maple Grocery and Market to pay him and his union $4 a month for the privilege of working."

Cite Benefits for Lower Dues.

The independent group, the handbills went on, operated with only one thought in mind: "What we can do for our members to enable them to enjoy a better livelihood." Salaries, working conditions, and benefits, the bills said, "are equal to or better than anything offered by Mr. Emmett Kelly, and it doesn't cost us $4 a month."

The complaint said that by picketing the packing plant and Maple grocery Mr. Kelly was "trying to force his way. We are not professional pickets," the bill concluded, "but we know our way."

Kelly, a brother said, was in Lake Geneva, Wis., yesterday and could not be reached for comment.

Says Kelly Picketed First.

John Key, 2010 Ridge avenue, manager of the packing company's warehouse, is president of the independent union. He said Kelly was trying to bring into the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, local 546, AFL, the butchers working in the two stores picketed by the union. He added that all other Evanston butchers are members of that union.

"He picketed us," Key said, "so we decided to picket him. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

He said a court injunction was obtained two years ago to prevent Max Caldwell, now deposed head of the Chicago clerks' union, from attempts to organize clerks belonging to the independent group, and that a similar injunction would be sought against Kelly if necessary.

Pay $1.50 a Month.

P. G. Rapp, president of the Evanston Packing company, whose warehouse is at 2006 Ridge avenue, said dues of the independent group were $1.50 a month, and that about 20 north shore stores have 200 employés who are members.

Violence has marked the course of the Butchers' union in the last two years. On April 30, 1940, Joseph Klopke and Harry Hlavacek, business agents of local 638, were found guilty by a jury of assaulting a nonunion butcher shop porter with intent to maim. They were sentenced to 1 to 14 years in prison. The Illinois Supreme court upheld the conviction last February.

Last May 13, Julian E. Sereik, a union meat cutter, was shot. He named Tom Devero, hoodlum business agent of local 517, as his assailant. In court July 11, Sereik refused to identify Devero, and the latter was discharged. An investigation of the case is now in progress.

Royal Exiles Win Friends Who Want U. S. to Enter War

Washington, D. C., July 27 [Special].—The American hemisphere, and particularly Washington, has opened hospitable doors to a host of European royal personages since the war began to get hot in Europe. Many of them, fugitives from the German blitz that was inflicted upon their subjects, have been entertained at the White House and at the estate of Mrs. Sarah Roosevelt, mother of the President, at Hyde Park, N. Y.

The impact of the fugitive princelings and their families has been heavy on the social life of wealthy easterners, and their affability in time of adversity is regarded as having won them friends who want the United States to enter the war.

Two Make Business Trips.

Two members of the British royal house crossed the Atlantic on legitimate business errands. The duke of Windsor is governor general of the Bahamas, and the earl of Athlone, brother of Dowager Queen Mary, is governor general of Canada. The duke has visited Florida at least twice in the last year and the earl has been one of the Roosevelt house guests.

The lesser royalties arriving on this continent, have no specific executive duties on American soil, include:

Former King Carol of Rumania, accompanied by his mistress, Mme. Elena [Magda] Lupescu. They are reported on their way from Cuba to Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and her daughters, who are residing in Ottawa, Canada. The prince consort, Bernhard, recently went to England after the family had made a tour in the United States.

Luxembourgers in Canada.

Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg; her consort, Prince Felix of Bourbon-Parma; her mother, and the six royal children; all residing in Canada.

Crown Princess Martha of Norway, her son and two daughters. Crown Prince Olav was here for months, but has returned to England.

Archduke Otto, pretender to the non-existent throne of Austria, whose official residence is in New York. Archduke Felix, brother of Otto, in New York.

Otto's mother, Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary, in exile in Canada. On July 17 she arrived at Royalston, Mass., for a month's visit to Mrs. Calvin Bullock of New York.

Archdukes Karl Ludwig and Rudolph and Archduchesses Charlotte, Adelaide, and Elizabeth, daughters of Empress Zita, all with her at the Bullock summer estate.

Princess Margrethe, cousin of the king of Denmark, recently reported working in a New York millinery shop.

Prince Adolph von Schwartzenberg and his wife, Princess Hilda, sister of the duchess of Luxembourg, visiting on a visa good from April to October.

Carol Admires Roosevelt.

Altho King Carol, so far as is known, has not been invited to Washington, he was entertained while en route to Cuba by the American governor of the Virgin Islands, Charles Harwood. He expressed admiration for President Roosevelt and hoped he could visit the United States.

The White House had Princess Juliana and her entourage as guests for two days in December. In their June tour of America she and Prince Bernhard were dined by the President and were overnight guests.

The royalties of tiny Luxembourg have had a warm welcome. When Duchess Charlotte arrived in New York a delegation met her and kissed her hand. She and Prince Felix have been White House visitors twice, in October and February.

Martha Buys Winter Home.

Princess Martha of Norway stopped at Hyde Park last August and was a dinner guest at the White House in December. In November the President had tea with her at her home near Bethesda, Md., suburb of Washington, D. C. Only a few days ago the princess purchased the property at a reported $252,000. It will be her winter home; she is at Cape Cod, Mass., for the summer.

Even Otto von Hapsburg, who has only a claim to the sovereignty of Austria, was invited to drink tea with the President on March 8, 1940. He and his brother Felix visited the senate that day.

WITHIN 45 MILES OF LENINGRAD, GERMANS CLAIM

Nazis Seize 23,000 Red Prisoners.

BERLIN, July 27 (AP).—DNB, the official German news agency, indicated a German advance to within 45 miles of Leningrad today as other German war reports told of Nazi planes dropping hundreds of thousands of pounds of demolition and incendiary bombs on Moscow.

A "telling effect" was produced on transport and supply facilities by the air attack on the soviet capital, German reports said.

[A Berlin radio broadcast reported another heavy air attack was in progress Sunday night.]

While the conflict with Russia entered its sixth week, the high command continued its reticence of days by declaring merely that operations were proceeding successfully along the whole eastern front.

DNB, however, indicated that the Germans had advanced to the neighborhood of Volosovo, 45 miles southwest of Leningrad, the soviet's second largest city.

Trapped by German Units.

The agency said a German reconnaissance unit found a Russian division commander's report yesterday in a staff car captured on one of the main roads to Leningrad.

This report, according to DNB, was dated July 25 and explained that the 45th division had been trapped by German divisions for several days and that a heavy tank detachment had been sent southwestward toward Volosovo to cover the division's retreat.

"But the men must have lost all sense of direction," said DNB, and became stuck in the marshes six miles behind our lines."

One other important action was reported by semiofficial sources to have taken place in the vicinity of Mogilev, on the southern side of the Smolensk sector 230 miles west of Moscow, where German military leaders said they had completed an encirclement action—"closed the kettle" as they said—and annihilated two Russian divisions.

Capture 23,000 Prisoners.

Twenty-three thousand prisoners are moving back to prison camps from this region, it was said.

[Russian reports said two German infantry divisions and an armored division had been destroyed by their counterattacks in this sector.]

Intensified air activity in the Arctic regions was reported by Germans who said bombers dispersed Russian columns west of Murmansk and wrecked a ship south of Rybachi peninsula.

German tabulations indicated the Russians had lost 342 planes in actions Friday and Saturday, 138 of them destroyed on the ground.

CLAIM NAZI DRIVE WANES

MOSCOW, July 28 [Monday] (AP).—The Red army today continued to combat the German spearheads in the advanced zones defending Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev. As the Nazi invasion entered its 37th day,

ROOSEVELT LISTENS TO PRAYER THAT U. S. SEES TYRANNY BEATEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 27.—President Roosevelt attended services today in St. James' Episcopal church, in which he was baptized, near his boyhood home. He heard the Rev. Frank R. Wilson, the pastor, pray that "the forces of tyranny and aggression" may be overcome and that the United States may have "wisdom to see and courage to do what is right."

The pastor also borrowed a British World war prayer from the Rev. Robert Gay, who was a Canadian chaplain during the World war.

In the middle of the prayer Bernard Nastasi, 3 years old, of Brooklyn whose parents had brought him to the church to catch a glimpse of the President, decided to walk out. Bernard's mother, unable to stop him, decided to help him along and the child was hauled up the main aisle and out the door. The Rev. Mr. Wilson's prayer was punctuated by the slap of a maternal hand and Bernard's yells.

U. S. Aid Can't Be Stopped, Britain Is Told

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

LONDON, July 27.—Harry L. Hopkins, who described himself as the special representative here of the United States of America, told Britishers in a broadcast tonight that "no enemy action can stop the ceaseless tide of ships coming here daily, this time laden with something more substantial than hopes and sympathy."

Harry L. Hopkins.

He declared that British and American ships "are patroling the Atlantic ocean on parallel lanes with only one object in view—to guard the world's lifeline."

Says Ocean "Joins" Nations.

"Even now as I speak sleek gray destroyers flying the American flag are plunging their bows into the waters of the north Atlantic," Hopkins said. "Once upon a time this mighty ocean separated us. Now it joins us."

Alluding to the lease-lend bill Hopkins stated: "Mr. Roosevelt knew that speeches by himself and his cabinet ministers might get applause in Britain, but he also realized that while admiration was pleasing, an American destroyer could drop more depth charges and flying fortresses could drop more bombs.

Bares "Enormous" Arms Flow.

"An enormous amount of war material which is en route now will reach here safely. President Roosevelt promised me that he will take steps to insure delivery of goods consigned to Britain. Our President does not give his word lightly."

[The White House spokesman last night said Hopkins stated what every one in America knows, and what Mr. Roosevelt has been telling the people in his speeches for months Hopkins conferred by phone with the President Thursday night.]

Hopkins reminded his audience that "while we in America may be 3,000 miles away today, the Atlantic ocean is merely a channel. A bridge of friendship spans it. America will never allow the people of Britain to go hungry. America has decided to decrease her consumption of food and increase her production."

China and soviet Russia came in for encouraging promises when Hopkins said, "Nor do we forget to look toward the east where China is battling valiantly against forces which menace democracy. Neither are we forgetful of the magnificent fight the people of Russia are putting up in defense of their homeland. We in America are determined to give all possible aid to both of these countries—and immediately!"

Learns Needs; Ready to Return.

Hopkins, who is President Roosevelt's lend-lease coördinator, announced that he has completed his mission which, he said, was to determine if the material America is sending to Great Britain is arriving; if it is what Britain wants, and if there is anything more Britain needs. Having got the answers from British cabinet ministers, Hopkins said he is returning to America to report to Mr. Roosevelt.

Commenting on shipment of American planes to Britain he said:

"During the last several months airplanes now numbering in the thousands, made in American factories, have been flown or shipped across the Atlantic. These range from the largest bombers to the fastest fighters They are in combat now."

Hopkins said that the bomber in which he flew the Atlantic was accompanied by 20 other bombers.

Tanks Sent by Hundreds.

Hopkins said the United States already had sent several hundred tanks, with more on the way, and had transferred ships, oil tankers, and food supplies "and a thousand miscellaneous articles, all important to the war effort."

"American industry now joins hands with the men who work for Beaverbrook and Berin in forgetting disputes, in limiting holidays, in sacrificing all for the common victory." Then he finished:

"People of England, people of Britain, people of the British commonwealth of nations! You are not fighting alone. Your prime minister asked us for tools. I promise you that they are coming; that the endless assembly belt stretches from our western coast to this island and to the middle east; that nothing will be allowed to interfere with the full efficiency of this supply line."

A SHOOTING WAR IS F. D. R.'S AIM, SAYS REYNOLDS

Denies Nation Is in Peril of Attack.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—In a prelude to the senate debate this week on the resolution which would declare that the national interest is imperiled and would extend indefinitely the service of all army personnel, Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the military affairs committee, today accused the Roosevelt administration of preparing for offensive war as a shooting ally of Great Britain and Russia.

Senator Reynolds.

Chairman Reynolds, who voted against the army expansion resolution when his committee ordered it reported yesterday, denied in a statement explaining his vote that the United States or the western hemisphere is in imminent peril of attack by the axis powers, as asserted by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, in testimony before the committee on July 17.

Demands Army's "Proof."

Senator Reynolds challenged the war department to make public what Gen. Marshall called "conclusive proof" that such an attack is contemplated. It is absurd, the senator said, to hide behind the cloak of "military secrecy," since any potential enemy planning an attack on the United States surely would know about it.

The proposal to keep draftees, National Guardsmen, and all other army personnel in service indefinitely and to remove the limitation of 900,000 on the number of conscripts that could be in training at any one time is expected to result in a full dress senate debate of some 10 days or more on the Roosevelt administration's war policies. The resolution itself will not be called up until Wednesday, but the debate will begin tomorrow when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], leader of the noninterventionists, takes the floor for a comprehensive indictment of the administration's policies and practices.

See Roosevelt Strategy Upset.

Senator Wheeler and other noninterventionists approved President Roosevelt's order sequestering all Japanese assets in this country and making possible a complete embargo on commerce with Japan, in collaboration with the British and Dutch empires. The indorsement by the noninterventionists of this experiment in economic warfare was not as paradoxical, however, as it appeared on the surface. Their approval was based on the belief that the possibility of war in the Pacific will force Mr. Roosevelt to keep out of actual shooting war in the Atlantic, or on the continents of Europe and Africa.

The Japanese occupation of Indo-China and apparent preparations to move into Thailand [Siam], in striking distance of British Singapore and the rich Netherlands East Indies, completely upset the Roosevelt grand strategy for action against Germany in the Atlantic without risking a two ocean war with a one ocean navy, according to the noninterventionists.

Recall Statement on Japan.

They recalled that as recently as May 27, when Mr. Roosevelt gave congressional leaders a preaudition of his radio address to the world, he explained that his failure to denounce Japan was purposeful. The Japanese industrialists had gained ascendancy over the militarists, and Japan was going to be good, the President said. The United States would be free, he added, to move a large part of the Pacific fleet into the Atlantic for action against Germany.

The noninterventionists are convinced the Japanese movements will force Mr. Roosevelt to keep out of a shooting war in Europe, at least for some time, but they do not believe Japan will risk actual war with the United States, British, and Dutch forces in the far east. It is more likely, they believe, that Japan will wait for a German victory over the Russians, and then take over the maritime provinces of Siberia.

In his statement on the army expansion resolution, Senator Reynolds recalled that Gen. Marshall testified, on July 17, that an army of approximately 1,700,000 would be large enough to defend the western hemisphere. The strength of the army as of that date was approximately 1,418,000 officers and men, and plans had been made for the addition of approximately 300,000, including 152,000 in the air corps, Gen. Marshall testified.

A SHOOTING WAR IS F. D. R.'S AIM, SAYS REYNOLDS

Disputes Claim U. S. Is in Imminent Danger.

Since the army today has only about 600,000 conscripts, while the present law permits a total of 900,000, the additional 300,000 men can be inducted without removing the limitation, Senator Reynolds said.

"Why change the law so that we can train more than 900,000 selectees at one time, when Gen. Marshall has testified that only 1,700,000 men are needed to defend this hemisphere?" the senator asked. "Why this request for authority to have in our armed forces at any one time more than 2 million, unless we are preparing for acts other than the defense of this hemisphere?

Defends His Position.

"This resolution, as I see it, is simply a declaration of authority to prepare the armed forces of the United States not for defense, but for offense—and is in effect notice to the warring factions that congress has authorized the preparation of the armed forces of the United States to enter the present world war as an active, participating, shooting ally of Russia and Great Britain.

"I have always stood for national defense and as evidence thereof, I call attention to the fact that I have voted for every national defense measure, including the selective service act, as well as each and every appropriation for the benefit of our national defense, and I shall continue to vote for every measure which I believe will be for the benefit of our national or hemispheric defense.

Mentions Previous Steps.

"There is unity among all in reference to national or hemispheric defense, and disunity only enters the picture when the question of our policing the world at the expense of the American taxpayers is injected into the issue. Step by step we have proceeded towards war. I voted against the lifting of the arms embargo which was the entering wedge. I voted against the lend-lease bill, which was a long stride towards war, and I voted against this resolution because I believed it to be just another step in the direction of war.

"Great fear has been instilled into the minds of the American people by false propaganda delivered daily in large but evidently digestible doses from hour to hour by newspaper columnists, editorial writers, magazine editors, radio commentators, pamphleteers, and the motion picture producers of propaganda films.

Ridicules Idea of Attack.

"As to fear of invasion of this country, the axis powers are daily weakening as a result of destruction of their equipment and the loss of their men, rather than being strengthened insofar as fighting personnel and adequate equipment is concerned.

"If Hitler cannot cross a little muddy ditch of 20 miles, the English channel, with his population consisting of more than 70 millions in Germany proper, and whip 40 million people or less on the British Isles, how is he, with the same army and the same backing, expected to cross 3,000 miles of open waters—the Atlantic—and conquer the United States with its population of 130 millions and the greatest navy of all times?

"This is a war measure, a step toward war, as evidenced by the testimony of the undersecretary of war, Mr. [Robert P.] Patterson, when on Wednesday, July 16, before the committee on military affairs of the senate, he said: 'I hope no distinction will be drawn here between our present emergency and actual war. I deem it of fully equal importance to equip our army now as if we were in actual war.'"

Comeback Periled

VERA STEADMAN.

Hollywood, Cal., July 27 (AP).—Vera Steadman, silent screen star and former Mack Sennett bathing beauty, may never walk again. But she keeps her chin up.

Last Jan. 28 she had money in the bank and a new career in the talkies ahead of her. Then, on her way to market, an automobile struck her, hurling her into the path of another.

Her spine was fractured in three places, her right leg in two.

Physicians put her in a full length cast, where she remained for months. Now she wears a brace.

"I don't know what's going to happen to me," she said today. "But the doctors have been so good, and my friends. Maybe I'll never act again. But we'll get along."

SAYS U. S. WOULD NOT BE RUINED BY GERMAN VICTORY

The United States need have no fear of economic ruin in event of a German victory and the organization of a European superstate, according to Stuart Chase, author and economist.

Chase spoke on the University of Chicago Round Table radio program from New York yesterday with Neil H. Jacoby, assistant professor of finance at the University of Chicago, and Peter Drucker, professor of economics at Sarah Lawrence college.

"The United States would not need to trade with a unified European economy under German control," Chase said. "We can do without imports from Europe. No American industry is dependent upon sales abroad, and agriculture, which will be hardest hit, is already being realistically adjusted to world trade conditions."

PUT ON BRAKES TO AVERT WAR, PRELATE PLEADS

Iowa Archbishop Assails Coddling of Reds.

In a fiery castigation of war mongers and communists, the Most Rev. Francis J. L. Beckman, Catholic archbishop of Dubuque, Ia., last night warned congressmen to "put on the brakes" to keep this nation at peace. Archbishop Beckman spoke over a national radio hookup.

The prelate lashed out against international financiers, paganism in high places which misuses the name of God, and the practice of smearing Americans who oppose war. He indorsed "defense to the hilt," but expressed alarm over the administration's ever broader interpretation of the term "defense."

"At this very moment only a mere pledge and an incident stand between the American people and full-fledged warfare, declared or undeclared," Archbishop Beckman said.

Appeals to Congressmen.

"Congressmen, your people entreat you to look well to this state of affairs. There is still time to circumscribe and temper the dangers which confront us, to put on the brakes and stop for a last look around before we take the fatal plunge.

"And if we but stop, look, listen, we see the strangest sights in this land of ours. Men of staunch patriotic convictions who dare to oppose our entrance into this war are immediately smeared and classified as Nazis, bundists—yes, even as traitors to their country.

"It is high time that we ask ourselves, men of the congress: Who are these people who dare to vilify decent Americans? And while we are on the subject, in this so-called great Christian democracy of ours, how can we account for the coddling of communists in every responsible branch of our government?

"Truly, there is something rotten here! Again—Congress, be warned! These unmolested commissars are the disciples of that 'new order' we may expect as masters if this country goes to war. These want war. Today the mask is off: It is communism, communism, communism everywhere gaining ground.

Aid to Britain and Bolshevism.

"We have been pushed far enough in this abominable game of aid to Britain and bolshevism! We are sick and tired of broken or badly bent promises, of deceit, of false hysterias and manufactured crisis.

"The people of this nation will never forgive, much less forget, a negligence which permits the stealthy maneuvering of this beloved America into war.

"Remember, the stakes are high, and a few in this country would pay almost any price for the vindication of their monstrous greed, hatred, and deceit—any price in the blood and treasure of the American people."

Archbishop Beckman denied that this is in any sense a "holy war." He declared that it is nothing more or less than a struggle to reëstablish the shattered boundaries of international finance. In conclusion he urged his listeners to "make the welkin of petition ring today, tomorrow, and thruout all the years" by writing to their congressmen.

MOCK INVADERS SEIZE LONDON'S PHONE EXCHANGE

Canadians Show Speed in Test of Guard Defense.

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 27.—The first mock attack by regular troops to test central London's home guard defenses against air invasion took place today. I saw, heard, and smelled it from the roof of a tall, damaged building.

Invaders had been dropped theoretically in the vicinity of Reading and had spread out to attack all over the countryside, including London. The "battlefield" here was a devastated area about half a mile square in the old City of London [financial district]. Blank cartridges, booming flash bombs, and smoke screens created a realistic scene.

Four hundred picked veterans of one of Canada's crack regiments represented a German force that advanced to capture the telephone exchange with machine gun carriers, mortars, Tommy guns, grenades, rifles, and smoke bombs.

Streets Are Barricaded.

The defenders were men of the postoffice home guard who, tho not so well armed, knew the neighborhood intimately. They occupied excellent hideouts in the wreckage of warehouses and among piles of rusty girders and mountains of yellow, red, and brown bricks.

Barriers of telephone cable spools and junk blocked the streets and a few ambulances with nurses gave the "battlefield" an authentic atmosphere. Most of the grenades used were toy balloons filled with water and if water splashed a soldier's uniform he was declared a casualty.

The "battle" was scheduled to last about three hours, but the aggressiveness of the Canadians, many of them from central Ontario and veterans of action on the continent, ended it in about half that time. At first the attackers could be seen advancing cautiously by twos or sixes, reconnoitering and feeling out the defenses.

Lookouts Report by Phone.

The home guards had observation posts high in the telephone exchange building and had strung telephone wires to enable lookouts to report quickly where the enemy was advancing.

After half an hour of skirmishing, the Canadians began their attacks with Bren gun carriers. Moving fast, they charged the barriers erected by the home guards, sometimes managing to break thru or crawl over, often being put out of action by grenades thrown from the ruins. In some cases the home guards betrayed their defensive positions to the enemy by carelessly shouting to each other between volleys of fire.

After two or three feints that drew most of the home guard strength to the western and southern sides of the telephone exchange, the Canadians finally launched a furious attack from the northeast using about six Bren gun carriers and smoke bombs to shield foot soldiers who dodged forward over piles of bricks. This attack broke thru to its objective.

Canadians Speed Praised.

The chief umpire expressed satisfaction with the results of the exercise.

"I can't say that anybody really won the 'battle,' he said. "That is not important. We're trying to learn lessons. The Canadians made good use of the factor of speed, but I am glad to see that the home guard, profiting from former exercises, made good use of cover and showed alertness and initiative."

LONDON RAIDED AT NIGHT FIRST TIME IN WEEKS

LONDON, July 28 [Monday] (AP).—German bombers raided London for two hours early today in apparent retaliation for the RAF assault on Berlin Friday night, dropping bombs in several districts causing some casualties and fires. Few planes participated and the attack seemed more of a "nuisance" raid than a real assault. The bombs were the first to fall in London since June 7 and the raid alarm was the first since June 27.

Official sources said the axis had lost 95 planes on the western front and in the middle east in the last week against Britain's loss of 75.

Nazi Destroyer Attacked.

BERLIN, July 27 (AP).—Nine British fighting planes and six speedboats attacked a German destroyer in the English channel this afternoon, DNB, the official German news agency, reported, but six German pursuit planes broke up the assault. The agency said the German planes shot down one plane and forced the speedboats to turn back.

German newspapers said 37 members of Britain's four motored bomber crews were captured in a single day of fighting on Thursday.

URGES U. S. SHIPS, GUNS BE USED TO ASSIST BRITISH

Washington, D. C., July 27 (AP).—Admiral William H. Standley, retired former chief of naval operations, urged today that American ships, guns, and planes be used, if necessary, to protect delivery of supplies to Great Britain.

In an address broadcast under the sponsorship of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, Admiral Standley continued:

"This will cost us ships. It may cost us American lives. But not nearly as many ships or planes or lives as we must certainly pay if we are called upon alone to combat first: Nazi political infiltration into South America and this continent; then, Nazi commercial invasion from a Europe entirely dominated by ruthlessness, and finally, after the would-be world conquerors have 'softened' the new world, a naval, air, and land invasion supported by the combined munitions plants of the world."

TELLS SUCCESS OF U. S.-BUILT PLANES IN SYRIA

LONDON, July 27 (AP).—A squadron of United States built Tomahawk fighting planes of the Royal Australian air force in the five week Syrian campaign made nearly 400 sorties and lost only one plane, it was reported today by the air correspondent of the British Press association. The Tomahawk is the British name for the P-40 [Curtiss] pursuit plane, as it is called in the United States army. It has a top speed of 365 miles an hour and cruises at 335.

The Tomahawks clashed with eight Junkers 88s when the German bombers attacked British warships off Sidon on June 13 and destroyed three of them, damaged two others, and drove off the rest without loss to themselves, the writer said.

On June 20 they were credited with destroying or putting out of action at least 100 vehicles on the Damascus-Beirut road.

Three days later the Tomahawks clashed with a formation of Glenn Martin bombers [American made but in the service of Vichy forces] and shot down six when they attacked allied troops in the Palmyra area.

Chinese in Jap Held City Taxed to Buy Nippon Plane

PEIPING, China, July 27 (AP).—Every time they attend a movie, eat in a restaurant, or visit a singsong establishment this month the Chinese of this Japanese occupied metropolis are helping to buy a warplane for the Japanese army. A 10 per cent tax has been placed on those businesses.

96.2° HEAT MAKES IT THE HOTTEST DAY OF SUMMER

If you thought yesterday was the hottest day of the summer, you were right. The mercury climbed to an official maximum of 96.2 at 3 p. m., and an unofficial mark of 99 was recorded at the weather bureau's airport station. The day was the warmest that Chicago has experienced since a year ago today, when the temperature rose to 97. The all time heat record for July 27 was 99.6, set in 1916.

The heat will continue today, with a reading as high as yesterday's regarded as a possibility by Forecaster A. J. Knarr. The weather man said there might be thundershowers in the afternoon or evening, but he does not expect them to affect the temperature much.

JAP LINER WITH 100 AMERICANS STILL IN HIDING

San Francisco, Cal., July 27 (AP).—Furtively staying clear of United States territorial waters, the luxury liner Tatuta Maru and more than 40 other Japanese ships played a cautious waiting game tonight pending clarification of the tense international situation. Their positions are secret and they are maintaining absolute radio silence.

Reports persisted that because of the 100 American passengers aboard the Tatuta Maru, which also carries a $2,500,000 silk cargo, arrangements may be made to land the passengers, at least.

In Washington, treasury officials said they had had no word of the Tatuta Maru, but had expected none, since the ship would not be in their jurisdiction until she entered the United States territorial waters at the 12 mile limit.

WITHIN 45 MILES OF LENINGRAD, GERMANS ASSERT

Destroy 2 Red Divisions; Seize 23,000 Troops.

the army reported no major engagements except in the Smolensk, Nevel, and Zhitomir sectors, names grown familiar with nearly two weeks of conflict in those same areas.

Soviet accounts described the strength of the German offensive as definitely dwindling and meeting with counterattacks tending to stabilize the long line.

S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar of foreign affairs, said the battlefront is "a gigantic, continuous Verdun," referring to the French city where the Germans were stopped on the western front during the World war.

Destroy 104 Nazi Planes.

The Red air force was credited with destroying 104 Nazi planes and sinking two German torpedo boats, two tankers, a submarine, and some patrol boats in the Baltic, all on Saturday. The Russians admitted the loss of 12 planes.

Saturday night also was marked by air battles in the approaches to Moscow. The capital was under alarm for 3 hours and 35 minutes but the Russians said night fighters and anti-aircraft kept all but five to seven of the German bombers away from the city.

It was officially announced that the German air force made 12 attempts between July 20 and July 26 to raid Leningrad, but that the Germans were driven off each time. Plane losses in these encounters were listed as 41 to 8 in Russia's favor.

Confidently, Russians noted that after 36 days of war in the west in the spring of 1940 the Germans were in Paris but that they still are far distant from Moscow at the end of 36 days. Smolensk is 230 miles west of Moscow.

Destruction of a Division.

Hinting at one detail of the battle in the Smolensk area, the soviet information bureau described the annihilation of a German infantry division [apparently one of two that it said yesterday were destroyed].

"The commander of our formation decided to hold this division and encircle it in order to wipe it out completely," the account said.

"At the end of the first day the Germans no longer offered any resistance to the attack of our troops. They were compelled to adopt defensive tactics and dig in.

"At that moment our tanks and mechanized infantry completed the encirclement of the enemy. Early in the morning squadrons of soviet bombers flew over the German division. Hundreds of bombs were dropped.

"The enemy brought their artillery into action and made a desperate attempt to break thru the encirclement, but everywhere he encountered artillery and machine gun fire.

Repeatedly Repulsed.

"Our anti-tank guns destroyed 20 German tanks and light armored cars."

Repeatedly the German tried to crash out, and as often were thrown back, the account continued. At the end of the second day the Russians went on the offensive.

"Our tanks and infantrymen hurled themselves against units of the German infantry division, tanks going at full speed crushed and machine gunned the Fascist soldiers at point blank range."

That ended the German division, with more than 4,000 dead, more than 3,000 wounded, numbers of prisoners taken, and dozens of tanks, trucks, and guns destroyed.

FIVE SUBURBAN AMERICA FIRST GROUPS TO MEET

Five suburban chapters of the America First committee will carry on the anti-war crusade with meetings to be addressed by prominent noninterventionists within the next few days.

The Oak Park chapter, 736 Lake street, will hear Norman Saunders tonight, while Urban G. Willis talks before the Evanston chapter in the Ridgeville Community house, 908 Seward street.

Wilbur Helm, economist and investment adviser, will speak before the Elmhurst chapter at 122 Addison street tomorrow night. John W. Maselter will appear in the village hall to address the Downers Grove chapter.

Nazi-Red War Situation

The situation yesterday in the war between Russia and Germany, as pictured from reports from both sides in the conflict. Germans claim to have pushed closer to Leningrad. Russian sources said the German drive had lost its force. White circles are areas of heavy fighting.

FINNS SMASH RED ARTILLERY UNIT; TAKE 37 BIG GUNS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 28 [Monday] (AP).—Finnish forces in the Repola sector of the eastern front have destroyed a Russian artillery regiment by a pincers movement, it was announced early today.

Spoils captured by the Finns were declared to have included 37 big guns, 13 mortars, two anti-tank guns, six anti-aircraft guns, 13 tractors, 50 transport trucks, 17 field kitchens, 200 horses, and a quantity of heavy infantry arms.

On the naval front, the Russians were reported to have tried vainly to capture the town of Bengskar Saturday by landing 126 men and the crews of four motor patrol boats under cover of fighter planes and artillery fire from a cruiser. Finnish aircraft and gunboats were said to have repulsed the attack.

Six Killed as Patrol Plane Crashes in Newfoundland

HALIFAX, N. S., July 27 (AP).—Six airmen were killed when a royal Canadian air force plane crashed near Newfoundland airport early yesterday, headquarters of the eastern air command announced tonight. Five were Canadians, the sixth English. The plane was returning from a reconnaissance flight.

KARELIAN FARMERS EAGER TO RESETTLE RECAPTURED LANDS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 27 (AP).—Finland's reported conquest of the greater part of the land she ceded to soviet Russia at the close of the 1939-'40 Finnish-Russian war has heightened expressions of homesickness among 500,000 Karelian refugees.

Even among the thousands of families settled upon new farms granted by the state, Finnish observers said today, 95 per cent are ready to return to their war-torn homes. Authorities have a special problem in restraining the impatient until the province has been cleared of mines and made hygenically safe.

The advance of Finnish forces was declared to have been so rapid in the five weeks of the fresh hostilities that the soviet "scorched earth" program was largely foiled and many villages and farms were left in good condition.

CLAIM BOMBERS CAUSED CAPTURE OF STALIN'S SON

BERLIN, July 27 (AP).—The shattering effect of German stukas [dive bombers] caused Lieut. Jacob Dschugaschwili [Jacob Stalin, allegedly captured eldest son of soviet Dictator Joseph Stalin] to hoist a white flag and give up to German troops on July 16, according to a statement the German official news agency DNB said tonight he had made to military authorities.

The main part of the officer's division was destroyed on July 16 but he and his unit held out until complete encirclement made them decide to yield. He said they were separated from their artillery support.

The prisoner, the DNB account went on, said he had a wife and a three year old daughter. It added that he replied "maybe yes and maybe no" when asked if Josef Stalin would take his wife with him if the soviet government fled.

DARING ITALIAN SPEEDBOAT RAID SMASHED:BRITISH

Blast 17 Vessels Trying to Reach Malta.

LONDON, July 27 (AP).—Daring young Italian Fascists who sought to emulate the World war deeds of the poet-hero Gabriele d'Annunzio with a torpedo and speed boat attack on Britain's island fortress of Malta met with disaster and their expedition probably was wiped out with 17 tiny craft smashed, the British said today.

It was just before 5 a. m. on Saturday, a communique reported when a squadron of Italian E-boats [armed speedboats] was detected attempting to penetrate the harbor at Valletta.

Five blew up or sank at once under a hail of fire from shore artillery before it was discovered that these boats merely were covering smaller torpedo-carrying craft which were breaking into the harbor.

"Reports so far received indicate that the assault on the harbor was attempted by eight small torpedo-carrying craft, all of which were destroyed by the defenses."

Cite Italian Report.

"The view that none of the assaulting forces survived to report is confirmed by the special Italian communique issued last night. This merely refers to explosions seen by the escorting forces from a distance to seaward."

[The Italians said eight violent explosions were observed in the harbor and "one may be certain that at least eight more British ships no longer are able to go to sea."]

The British said the RAF then took up the battle, chasing the remaining E-boats which were trying to "extricate themselves" and sank four more of them, damaging others.

Italian planes which at this point endeavored to cover the sea attack were routed, with a loss of three Italian planes to one British.

AN ITALIAN SPECIALTY.

The Italians have said their secret torpedo-carrying assault boats, requiring the greatest skill and experience in handling, are manned by the nerviest volunteers.

These boats penetrated the boom, net and mine defenses of Suda bay, Crete, on May 26, the Italians declared, and damaged the cruiser York, subsequently destroyed by German bombing.

Exploits with torpedo speedboats form some of the brightest chapters in the traditions of the Italian navy, particularly in the World war. The late Gabriele d'Annunzio had some of his more fantastic adventures of these speedboat raids. The Italians once penetrated the harbor at Trieste with them and sank two Austro-Hungarian battleships and at another time attacked the Austro-Hungarian fleet and sank another battleship.

Air Action Over Malta.

ROME, July 27 (AP).—The Italian high command said today that four British planes were shot down in air combat over Malta while the Italians lost two planes, with the pilot of one saved. Valletta airport was bombed, an enemy attack at Tobruk was repulsed, and British planes bombed Bengazi. German artillery was reported to have sunk a ship in Tobruk harbor.

Attack Tobruk Outposts.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 27 (AP).—Indian, Australian, and British patrols, growing more daring in almost nightly raids on German and Italian forces besieging them at Tobruk captured and occupied strong points deep in axis lines last Friday night, the British middle east command reported today.

One Indian patrol was said to have attacked four axis outposts from the rear in quick succession, ejecting the surprised garrisons after inflicting considerable casualties.

An Australian patrol seized strong points "outside the perimeter" of Tobruk's defenses while a British outfit which operated deep into the opponent's positions was said to have returned with prisoners and valuable information.

"The increasing extent to which the enemy's nerves are being frayed by the relentless and gallant activities of our patrols is evidenced by the weight and wildness of the counter fire put down all over the front, usually after our patrols have safely returned to their bases," the communique said.

SEARCH FOR THREE BANDITS.

Hyde Park police searched yesterday for three bandits, who held up two residents of the Carolan apartment hotel at 5480 Cornell avenue Saturday night. The victims were A. L. Sporkin, a salesman, who was robbed of $125, and Samuel Levitt, who was robbed of $50.

POLES AND REDS, AT WAR, READY TO SIGN AS ALLIES

British Expect Closing of Deal This Week.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 27.—A pact between Poland and Russia, considered here to be an unusual piece of diplomatic legerdemain, is expected to be signed here this week. So delicate is the situation involving the agreement regarded that all concerned are reported to be holding their breath and hoping for the best.

Anything approaching rapprochement will be accepted as the best that could be hoped for in the circumstances, which include the almost forgotten fact that Poland technically is still at war with Russia.

Any agreement, it is said, will lead to further conversations in which difficulties between the two countries could be studied with a view to finding a compromise.

Three Stumbling Points.

Stumbling points in the negotiations have been Poland's anxiety over its territorial claims in the face of a Russian desire to leave the door open for boundary discussions after the war; Poland's desire to obtain the release of 500,000 military and civil prisoners held in Russia, and the diffidence each nation feels in dealing with a traditional enemy.

Evidence that the negotiations between Poland and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics are unlike anything seen around here for a long time can be found readily. The British Broadcasting company Polish news service in a broadcast three days ago to the Polish people threaded its way thru conflicting arguments. It said:

"Poland and Russia are being brought nearer not by any force of mutual attraction but by the ancient, hard principle [enunciated by British Prime Minister Winston Churchill] that 'enemies of our enemies are our friends.'"

Neither Wants to Be "Prey."

What people in Poland should think of an agreement with the soviets, which with Germany recently carved up their country, was stated thus:

"Poland will remain Poland. Russia will remain Russia. But neither Poland nor Russia wants, and they are agreed on this, to serve Germany as her prey."

Therein lies the secret of the war aims of Poland, and presumably of Britain, which has done everything in her power to aid negotiations. The United States also is credited with a share in untangling the snarl.

"Between Poland and Russia," the broadcast to the Poles added, "there is not that stony hatred which is towered up between Poland and Germany, but there is a demarcation line of two worlds.

"For the first time in history, however, Poland and Russia as nations are simultaneously and directly menaced in their independent existence by Germany."

Hungarian Radio Warns Benes on Czech Claims

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 27.—Replying to former President Eduard Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, who recently laid claim to territory reannexed by Hungary, the Hungarian radio tonight warned Benes and his friends not to touch Hungarian soil if they cherish their lives. There was "only one 1918" and there will never be another, the radio said.

ASK NAZI-FRENCH ACCORD TO SAVE DAKAR FROM U. S.

Paris Papers See Peril in 'Roosevelt Push.'

VICHY, France, July 27 (AP).—The German-controled Paris press started a campaign today for a military accord between France and Germany for the defense of Dakar, French West African port, and other French African possessions from possible American attack.

In order to carry out such a program, wrote Jean Luchaire in Les Nouveaux Temps, a complete shake-up of the Vichy cabinet is necessary. This, he declared, would provide a government willing and able to carry out such a policy.

Sees Menace Developing.

Les Nouveaux Temps said that "if the battle of the Atlantic develops according to the logic of events, Dakar and French West Africa will be dangerously menaced."

[Dakar, westernmost tip of Africa, lies 1,715 miles from Recife, Brazil. It is farther west than the easternmost tip of Iceland, now under British-American occupation. Months ago it was the target of an unsuccessful "Free French" attempt at occupation.]

"The French possibilities in Africa, because of the armistice régime, have been reduced to a degree incompatible with efforts which the Anglo-De Gaullists ["Free French"] and perhaps the Anglo-Americans may be able to bring to bear in case of massive attacks," Luchaire wrote.

Fears "Roosevelt War."

After saying he was sure Vichy would resist [the United States] with "accumulated means" in Africa, he added:

"But will these means be proportionate to those of the attacker, and if they are not, will France have to stand the loss of another part of her empire?

"Let us not forget that if the United States ends by being pushed into war by President Roosevelt, our Antilles [West Indies] and Guiana [northeast South America] possessions, advanced points of Europe on the American continent, and in American waters, will be the first involuntarily to change their flag."

'HERE IS PORTUGAL,' SAYS PRESIDENT AS HE VISITS AZORES

LISBON, Portugal, July 27.—Lisbon's press gave prominent display to the speech made by Gen. Antonio Oscar de Fragoso Carmona, president of Portugal, when he arrived yesterday at Punta Delgada, the Azores. He said:

"I proclaim at this hour, and at this place where some of the greatest world routes cross, the unshaken certitude, tested by five centuries of history—here is Portugal!

"I salute the forces of the army and the navy as watchful sentries of our rights and the national honor in these islands."

TURKEY CALM AS REDS SAY NAZIS PLAN TO ATTACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANKARA, Turkey, July 27.—Turkey remained calm tonight in the face of soviet Russian claims to have captured documents from the German army detailing plans for an attack on this country.

Semi-officials quarters pointed out that it is usual for a belligerent to have detailed plans to cope with any military eventuality and that possession of such plans did not indicate that an attack was imminent. The reaction here, as far as could be learned, was that the incident "does not mean anything."

Meanwhile, reports circulated in foreign military circles that the Germans have only one division in Greece and the Italians two. This, it was felt, indicated that no action is contemplated against Turkey at present despite the Bulgarian mobilization. Reports from abroad that Germans are exerting pressure on Turkey are strongly discounted in diplomatic quarters of Ankara.

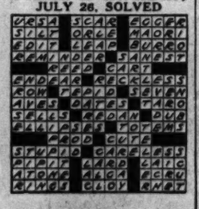
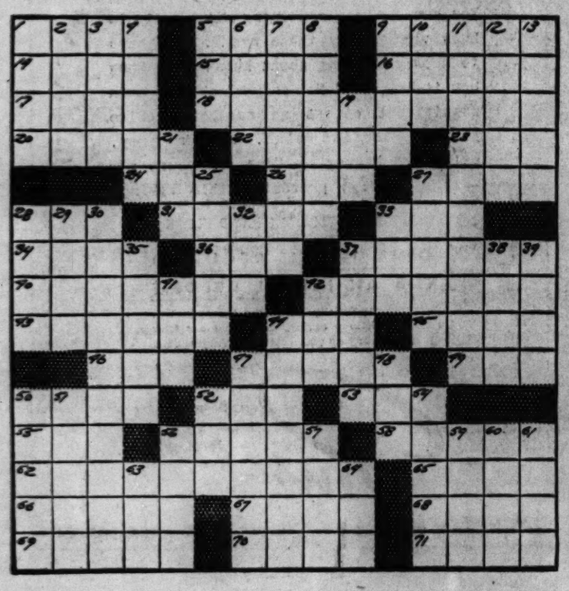
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, JULY 26, SOLVED





PUSH EAST ASIA DRIVE, JAPAN IS URGED IN CRISIS

Expansion Called Answer to U. S. and Britain.

TOKIO, July 27 (AP).—Japan's new finance minister, Matasune Ogura, declared today that the urgent thing for Japan to do, now that an economic struggle has started with United States and Britain, is to "forge ahead toward establishment of the greater East Asia coprosperity sphere."

Matasune Ogura.

He made the statement in an interview with the Japanese press while aboard a Tokio bound train as Osaka, returning from the Ise grand shrines where he had gone to pray following assumption of the finance ministry in the third Konoe government July 18.

Called Knudsen of Japan.

Ogura, a prominent industrialist, has been called "the Knudsen of Japan." [After William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management and noted American automobile manufacturer.]

Domei, the big Japanese news agency, circulated the following version of Ogura's remarks:

"The freezing by the United States of Japanese assets and British abrogation of Japanese-British, Japanese-Indian and Japanese-Burmese trade pacts had been surmised beforehand.

"The government therefore was left in position to take appropriate countermeasures and there is no need for concern over the British-American steps.

Says It Will Be Boomerang.

"Furthermore . . . the reciprocal measures taken by Britain and the United States will eventually prove painful to the two countries so long as Japan's economic potentiality remains sound and strong.

"Fortunately the vast sphere of East Asia, with Japan, Manchukuo and China as the center, is blessed with an abundance of human and material resources. Therefore the primary thing for Japan to do is to forge ahead toward fulfillment of the colossal task of establishing the East Asia coprosperity sphere.

"It is quite sure that Japan's economic potentiality is much stronger. So I consider it imperative and necessary to perfect the wartime system at the earliest moment possible in order that the national economic power may be most effectively displayed on a well planned basis."

"Superemergency" Seen.

"A superemergency" was his term for the situation.

Freezing of assets of British and American nationals in retaliation for Washington and London action against Japanese assets was a development in what the newspaper Kokumin called a life and death struggle.

The effect upon exports of silk and imports of oil is a question. Newspapers say that if American oil is withdrawn Japan likely must turn elsewhere for the fuel. The only other source immediately available is described as the Netherlands East Indies.

Dutch Suspend Jap Exchange.

LONDON, July 28 [Monday]—(AP).—Reuters, British news agency, reported today from Batavia that the Netherlands East Indies officially announced suspension of foreign exchange transactions with Japan. Reuters declared the government said all exports to Japan, Manchukuo, China, and French Indo-China would require special licenses in the future.

Britain Battles 'Black Market' Diamond Sales

LONDON, July 27 (AP).—Measures are being taken to wipe out the diamond "black market" thru which thousands of dollars worth of stones have changed hands recently according to the diamond manufacturers association. A large proportion of the gems, it is alleged, have been bought by rich persons for hoarding, thus depriving the British treasury of the sorely needed foreign currency their export would have brought in.

Japan's Spreading Military Might

Japan's spreading military might in southeastern Asia is indicated on map. Bases at Haiphong, Hainan, and Hanoi already have been established. Others are expected to be established soon.

CHINESE ASSAIL F. D. R. 'CRUELTY' IN JAP OIL SALE

Rap Sacrifice of Their Lives for Indies.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

CHUNGKING, July 27.—Bitter criticism of President Roosevelt and the United States policy of supplying American oil to Japan in an attempt to avert a Japanese attack on the Netherlands East Indies was printed in the Saturday issue of Ta Kung Pao, the capital's leading newspaper.

The comment was provoked by Mr. Roosevelt's admission Thursday that the United States had sold Japan oil for the last two years in order to keep Japan from taking the Indies oil fields. The paper asserted that the Roosevelt statement was as much as to say that the American expressions of sympathy for China are only to urge China on "to fight for peace for others."

Cite "Quarantine" Failure.

The Ta Kung Pao stated in part: "Since the outbreak of the Chino-Japanese war President Roosevelt has been openly advocating checking Japan in order to prevent or quarantine the spread of aggression.

"But this was never actually done. Yet China was appreciative of the American condemnation of Japan as well as of American support. China could understand and excuse the United States if she could take no definite action against Japan because of the opposition of isolationists. But Mr. Roosevelt's statement amounts to a broken promise since he has confessed that the way to check aggression is to sell oil to the aggressor.

"American spokesmen have said many sweet words about China in the last four years. The United States has helped China by giving her small loans but at the same time she has continued supplying Japan with oil, for Japanese planes which bomb China cities. China is very bitter about it.

Asks Why F. D. R. "Hates" China.

"Now comes Mr. Roosevelt's announcement of the national policy of selling oil to Japan in order to appease her so she would not attack the Indies. What a cruel policy. Why should Mr. Roosevelt hate China so much? Why should China be treated differently from the Indies?

"Roosevelt's boasted measure has been effective for two years. He is then very proud of providing oil to Japanese bandits and encouraging them to kill Chinese to satisfy their desire for drinking blood so that Japan would not attack the South Pacific.

"What cruelty. We Chinese cannot help but express our profound regret."

$10,000,000 DEFENSE GRANT TO PHILIPPINES REPORTED IN MANILA

MANILA, July 27 (AP).—Reliable sources said today that the United States had granted $10,000,000 to the Philippine commonwealth government for immediate defense use.

J. M. Elizalde, Philippine resident commissioner at Washington, reportedly informed Malacanan palace of the money grant to be applied in connection with the grouping of Philippine defense units under the command of Lieut. Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The war department appointment of Gen. MacArthur, former chief of staff of the United States army, to the command of 75,000 United States and Philippine troops in the islands was praised by Francis B. Sayre, United States high commissioner.

MacArthur told interviewers he would command all American military forces in the far east, but said he was unable to reveal now whether this would mean full mobilization of the Philippine army or whether reinforcements would be sent from the United States.

MacArthur Name Up to Senate.

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 27 [Special].—President Roosevelt today named Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur, former chief of staff of the United States army and who now is acting as advisor to the army of the commonwealth of the Philippines, to mobilize the armed forces of the islands and integrate them into the United States army. MacArthur's nomination as "commander of the United States army of the far east" with the rank of lieutenant general will reach the senate tomorrow. No opposition to confirmation is expected.

23 Alleged Reds Given Prison Terms in France

VICHY, France, July 27 (AP).—Twenty-three persons were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 6 months to 20 years with forced labor on charges of communist activity, it was announced today by the naval court at Toulon. Twelve, including a woman, were accused of attempting demoralization of the army or the nation, while the others were charged with distributing communist propaganda.

JAPAN MOVING 24,000 TROOPS INTO INDO-CHINA

Forces to Be in Striking Distance of Siam.

SAIGON, French Indo-China, July 27 (AP).—Japan will station troops within striking distance of Thailand [Siam] when she lands at least 24,000 men in southern Indo-China, it was reported by a reliable source today.

Preparations for housing approximately 12,000 troops on the outskirts of Saigon, the commercial metropolis of southern Indo-China, were underway. One camp will be at nearby Bienhoa airport.

Eight thousand troops will be garrisoned at Pnom-Penh, the capital of the Cambodian kingdom which borders Thailand, it was reported.

Key to Indo-China Interior.

Pnom-Penh is the key to the interior of southern Indo-China. From that city a railway and a modern highway run northwestward to Sisophon, well inside the Thailand border which was established last March when an ultimatum imposed a Japanese peace upon Thailand and Indo-China.

Informants said Japan also would have garrisons at other key points in Cambodia, possibly even closer to the Thailand boundary, as well as at various points along the coast south of Saigon.

Ships to Base at Cam Ranh.

The garrison force at Cam Ranh bay, the strong naval base northeast of Saigon, will number 4,000 soldiers, in addition to four warships, it was reported.

Informed sources said there was a possibility that the Japanese already had landed a small garrison at Tourane in northern Indo-China, an important port and railway city only 150 miles from Yulinkong, Japanese base at the southern tip of Hainan island.

But the date of the expected Japanese landing in southern Indo-China remained a secret altho the Japanese command already is here. The landing is expected, however, early this week.

Damages Hitler Photos; Gets Two Years in Prison

BERLIN, July 27 (AP).—A dispatch from The Hague said today that a young Dutchman had been sentenced to two years' imprisonment for damaging two pictures of Adolf Hitler in the Hague office of the newspaper Duetsche Zeitung der Niederlande.

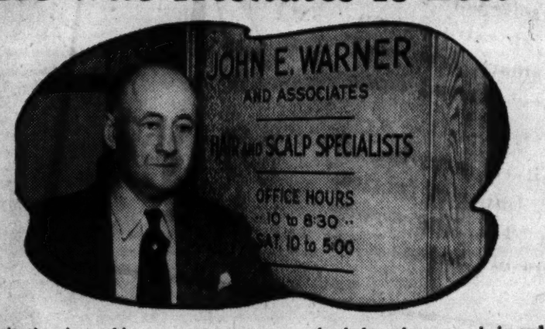
"He Who Hesitates Is Lost"



Hesitation in seeking competent, trustworthy help, when your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, may cause you to be too late to save your hair. Thousands of men, including leaders in the business, professional and theatrical worlds, have saved and improved their hair through treatment by John E. Warner Associates, and other hundreds have been rejected because they waited too long. Most sensible men know that baldness is a permanent condition—but 85% of baldness is due to local scalp conditions and can be corrected and checked by Warner's scientific treatment, if caught in time. If your scalp shows the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as an itchy or oily scalp—extreme dryness—and excessive loss of hair, you should, in the interest of your personal appearance, consult these famous hair specialists.

There is no charge or obligation for a private examination and consultation, and no case is ever accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are certain. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. The new Chicago office of the John E. Warner Associates is located at 36 S. State, North American Bldg., N. W. corner of State and Monroe, Suite 1320-24, Phone Central 1451, hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M.

There is a separate department for women. Other Warner offices located in Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit.

JAPS MASSING FOR DRIVES TO SOUTH OR NORTH

Siberia or Thailand to Be Next, Says China.

CHUNGKING, China, July 27 (AP).—Japan is making feverish preparations for an opportunistic move in either of two directions, south into Thailand [Siam] or northward into Russia's Siberia, operatives of the Chinese intelligence service reported today.

Close upon her moves to occupy air and naval bases in French Indo-China, Japan presented demands for Thailand to join the Japanese "new order" in East Asia, said a statement by the national military council which made public the intelligence reports.

At the same time, the Japanese were said to have drafted a quarter of a million men into service between July 7 and 18, and swelled the forces in Manchukuo and Corea to 17 full divisions.

Ready To Move on Siberia.

These forces are in position to be moved up to a new front in Siberia should the Japanese decide the course of the German-Russian conflict was favorable to an incursion.

In connection with the demands upon Thailand, it was said the Japanese were offering to obtain for her all of Laos and Cambodia, adjoining provinces in Indo-China, if the Thais will coöperate.

Presumably, Japan is looking for advantageous air and naval stations in Thailand whence later attacks might be directed either against British Malaya and Singapore or Burma and the Burma road, China's overland lifeline.

Thailand, western neighbor of Indo-China, was the beneficiary of the border peace last March which Japan imposed upon Indo-China, forcing cession of parts of Laos and Cambodia provinces. As an outgrowth of that peace, Japan agreed to guarantee the new Indo-Chinese frontiers.

20 Transports Move South.

To fulfill her contract, Japan last week announced a "joint defense" of the colony against what the Japanese press said were British, "Free French" and Chinese threats.

The Japanese were said to be maintaining troop concentrations at Formosa and Hainan islands for any quick move southward, while 20 fully loaded transports were said to have moved southwest from Canton last week, presumably to occupy newly acquired air and naval bases in southern Indo-China.

One Chinese report said three cruisers, 23 submarines and two aircraft carriers left a Japanese base last week, presumably to take part in the Indo-China operation.

Chinese operatives, who are said to lurk in the vicinity of every Japanese air and military base, sometimes tipping Chungking off to coming air raids as soon as the planes leave the ground, meanwhile reported that vast quantities of army uniforms, munitions and gasoline are being shipped to Manchukuo and Corea.

Raise Garrisons to Full Strength.

Technicians are being drafted into the Manchukuo garrison to raise the divisions to full strength, it was said, and recruits between the ages of 20 and 21 and reservists from 29 to 30 were said to have been called up.

Heavy air force concentrations east of Harbin in northern Manchukuo were reported.

The Japanese navy was said to have been engaged in mining the waters in Tsushima strait, between Japan and Corea, presumably to protect shipments and troop movements from attack by Russian submarines based at Vladivostok in event of war with the soviet.

Death Penalty Cloaks Moves.

Independent reports from Peking, in Japanese occupied North China, said the death penalty has been threatened for railway workers permitting military information to leak out.

It was reported that the Japanese military authorities had ordered the speedy conversion of 500 freight cars into flat cars suitable for transportation of tanks and artillery.

Peking agents also said extensive northward troop movements were under way and that at least half of one Japanese division had been moved out of North China to Manchukuo up to a week ago.

It was recalled that Gen. Yasuji Okamura, North China commander in chief, recently made an inspection trip to inner Mongolia, which adjoins the soviet protectorate of outer Mongolia.

Hungarian Bread Festival Held in Reoccupied Areas

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 27. — Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy and Mrs. Horthy attended the "Festival of Hungarian Bread" today in Szabadka, the largest town of reoccupied southern Hungary. Premier Ladislaus de Bardoesy told the crowd that since the return of the southern territories to Hungarian sovereignty they are again ready to supply bread for the tables of Hungary.

BARE NAZI PLAN TO GIVE BRITAIN 'PAINLESS PEACE'

Turks Hear They Would Get Slice of Russia.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 25 [Delayed] (AP).—A detailed report that Germany plans to partition European Russia when and if she conquers the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics up to the Ural mountains divide, and then offer a "painless peace" to the British empire, gained credence today in pro-British circles.

They said it came from an axis diplomat, not a representative of Germany, Italy or Japan, but of one of the axis satellites. He was said to have outlined the scheme in a private conference with an allied official here.

Details of Scheme Told.

The plan was detailed as follows:

1. Russia up to the Urals would be divided into two classifications, one to include the Ukraine under a German governor and the other to be divided among Rumania, Turkey, and Poland. Rumania would get a strip along the Black sea coast, including Odessa; Turkey would get part of the Caucasus wherein lie Turkish minorities, and Poland, to be reconstituted in some form not fully independent, would get back all the territory Russia occupied in Sept., 1939.

2. Japan wants Russian Asiatic territory from Vladivostok westward to Lake Baikal. It is not said definitely that she will get it. Former Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka once pledged Japanese entrance into the war [according to the outline of the German plan], but Germany does not want her to fight now because of the likelihood it would bring in America.

3. Italy is claiming Tunisia, Ethiopia, and control of Egypt, but the Germans oppose this [so the outline goes] because their peace offer would stipulate that the British empire be left intact on condition that Britain recognize Germany as the sole great power on the continent of Europe.

[Egypt, whose military protection is a British function, comes the closest of any of the three to being an actual part of the British empire. Except for British influence, Egypt is independent; likewise Ethiopia, altho control of both is important for defense of British Mediterranean, near eastern, and African holdings. Tunisia is French African territory. Noteworthy is the absence from this outline of any mention of France.]

Liberty for Four Countries.

4. Once Russia is occupied as far as the Urals, Germany will offer to recognize Britain's place in the world as a naval power and to reassure her Germany will restore political independence to countries of the northwest coast—Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium.

5. The German right to dispose of central and eastern Europe must not be contested. Germany will offer the Czechs a measure of independence but they will not be permitted to reunite with the Slovaks.

6. Upon completion of the Russian campaign, Germany will halt hostilities on all fronts. Even if the British continue to fight, Germany will not respond for a certain period, so as to make the point that the war, if it continues, goes on under British, not German, initiative.

7. Germany considers that for this plan to succeed the United States must not actually be in the war when the plan is advanced. Germans count on certain opinion in America to compel British acceptance of the proposals.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK TRUCE WITH REDS OF CHINA BARED

TIENTSIN, China, July 27 (AP).—The newspaper Yungpao, frequently considered a mouthpiece of the Japanese army in North China, reported today that Chungking officials and Chinese communists had reached a compromise agreement ending their long friction. According to Yungpao, the Reds agreed to support the Chiang Kai-shek régime to the end against Japan, to place themselves under Chungking supervision and to disband the 4th route army. Chungking, in return, agreed to subsidize the Reds by more than 2,000,000 Chinese dollars monthly and slightly extend the territory under communist control, the newspaper said.

MANAGING THE BIGGEST BUSINESS.

The greatest weakness of the national defense organization from the beginning has been its lack of a head. The President had given some authority to this person and some authority to that one. Before long he had a dozen or more agencies and administrators, all dealing with defense problems and all reporting to him. When some one came along with a new idea he proclaimed a brand new agency into existence, whose functions overlap those of agencies already in existence. The result has been feuds, conflicts of authority, contradictory orders, and all around ineffectiveness.

The lack of centralized control and of clear-cut delegation of authority resulted in several incidents of extraordinary character in the present week. On Sunday the newspapers carried the announcement by Leon Henderson, head of the office of price administration and civilian supply, of drastic curtailment of the production of automobiles, mechanical ice boxes, and washing machines.

On Wednesday, however, William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, declared that the cut in auto output announced by Mr. Henderson was of no effect since it was an OPM matter rather than an OPACS subject. Mr. Knudsen, who had arranged for the 20 per cent cut earlier announced, said that one of his subordinates was studying the question and with a committee of the industry would work out what the reduction was to be.

Who is to say how much the curtailment in auto production shall be—OPM, which is concerned with getting defense materials produced, or OPACS, whose jurisdiction is price fixing and civilian supply? Suppose that you are an automobile manufacturer now about to begin the production of a new year's model, how many cars should you prepare to produce?

On Tuesday Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chief of priorities in the national defense scheme, told the senate defense investigating committee that there had to be a clarification of his functions and those of Henderson's and OPACS. Altho Stettinius is head of priorities, Henderson took it upon himself recently to announce priorities for railroads, petroleum, shipping, and 20 odd other industries. Henderson said he had to have authority to allocate materials for nonmilitary purposes if he were going to control prices.

Henderson is a bad organization boy, but not the only source of conflict in national defense. A short time ago the division of state and local cooperation of OPM planned a campaign to collect old aluminum pots and pans with the aid of state and local governments. While this division was proceeding with its plans the President created the OCD, the office of civilian defense, and designated Fiorello La Guardia as director. The OCD promptly adopted the aluminum collection scheme as its own, leaving OPM with its plans but no place to use them. No conflicts have as yet been reported between OPACS and OCD, but that there will be scraps and that La Guardia and Henderson will make a good show of it we may be perfectly sure.

This in brief is a description of the organization which has undertaken the biggest business that ever was, the spending of nearly 50 billion dollars.

PLANES FOR THE AIR LINES.

The 19 domestic air lines in the United States are handling one-third more passengers, mail, and air express than they handled in 1940. They are doing this with the same number of planes, 350, that they had 19 months ago.

The air line executives were not caught flat-footed by this increase in traffic. They thought they had prepared for it by buying additional planes and ordering others. But the government stepped in and required them to turn a large part of their equipment over to the British. To date they have been obliged to relinquish 103 planes.

The British were warned 18 months ago, an air lines spokesman says, that if they wanted more transport planes they should order them. They failed to do so, and instead put pressure on the American government to strip American lines of their equipment.

Some of the planes sent to Britain have, no doubt, been put to military use. At the same time, however, the British have not stopped service on their own commercial air lines. They have, in fact, extended those lines. The Dutch, who also are pressing at Washington for planes, also are continuing their commercial air services in the far east.

Very probably a case can be made that these commercial air lines are useful in the defense efforts of the British and Dutch empires. But so are the American lines useful, in fact, essential, in our own defense effort. The bulk of their passengers today consists of business executives engaged on defense business.

The transport planes also form the only reserve that our own army has for the quick movement of troops. It is a small enough reserve at best, 350 commercial planes, against the 25,000 transport planes that the Nazis are reported to have.

The air lines apparently have staved off further depletions of their equipment, but they need additional equipment. They need it for their present operations, and they should also be encouraged to accumulate a reserve for possible military use. They have convinced almost all of the official agencies in Washington of their need, except the war department. The senile Mr. Stimson seems to hold to the belief that Americans and American enterprises should make all the sacrifices in this war in which we are not yet—to his sorrow—engaged.

CENSORSHIP COVERS UP.

There is sharp criticism in parliament, in the house of lords, of the suppression of Gen. Gort's dispatches on the campaign in France and Belgium. Gort was then chief of the general staff. Criticism comes from soldiers, including Viscount Trenchard, marshal of the royal air force. He said that "all officers and men feel strongly on the subject of how they got into the position they did" and want an explanation of why "the great British army was forced to abandon a country it had gone to defend."

Critics remind the government that no military secrets are being protected by the suppression of the dispatches. The Germans took virtually all the British equipment and enough prisoners to identify the forces engaged. The British themselves on the battlefield may have been too confused to know what had happened and why, but the Germans certainly weren't because they created the situation and took advantage of every weakness and every mistake.

The upshot of the censorship is not to deprive the enemy of any useful information or any material for study but to keep the British officers and the public from knowing who blundered and why. Thus the campaign is made valuable to the Germans, who know all about it, and any compensations which intelligent British military students might gain from the defeat are withheld, if not lost, for the period of the entire war.

Censorship based upon the necessity of not betraying military movements to the enemy is used to cover up the blunders of the persons who were responsible for the errors, who planned and executed them. The only plea in excuse for that would be that if an army learned how bad its leadership had been it would be difficult to restore any confidence in it for another campaign, which is equivalent to a plea that "we can't let them know what fools we've been."

A defeated command generally covers up its own tracks and consoles its troops by extolling their courage, magnifies the military genius revealed in the retreat, refers to the costly if not paralyzing losses of the successful enemy, and presents a general picture of everything coming out very well indeed, all things considered. Thus military reverse takes on the character of a glorious episode and the responsible persons acquire merit rather than discredit. It is a good way to lose the next campaign, if not the war.

In our Civil war the criticism of bum generals and their lost campaigns was blistering. Often it was exaggerated. The northern military reverse was not as bad as written down to be, but there was no protection in censorship. The commanders who were not fit for command were busted and victory came by this process of elimination. The right men were found and the Union was saved.

HOW MANY TANKS?

The first of the medium tanks to be produced by the Pressed Steel Car company at Hegewisch has been given a test run. The machine weighs about 28 tons and is substantially identical with the tank being produced by Chrysler and a number of other manufacturers, including the Pullman company. Light tanks, weighing about 13 tons and mounting a 37 are also in production. So far as is known, no tanks larger than the mediums have yet come from American factories.

We are thus beginning to turn out the equipment for armored divisions but the quantity remains to be decided by the military authorities. In all probability we should have far more tanks than the present plan calls for. The army has had so few of them in the past that the possession of a few hundred or a few thousand may seem to be more than adequate. Before the last war the same kind of underestimate was made of the need for machine guns and artillery.

How many tanks do we require? An extremist would reply that the army should consist of little besides airplanes and tanks. A more temperate estimate is that the strength of the army should be divided into three roughly equal parts: One-third air corps, one-third armored corps, and the other third miscellaneous forces, including infantry, engineers, artillery, etc.

The experience of this war, if the judgment of most of the competent military observers is to be followed, is that against an armored division adequately supported from the air an unarmored division has little chance. The best and perhaps the only defense against tanks is more, bigger, and faster tanks. Unarmored troops at best are forced to dig in behind some natural obstacle, like a river, and hope that they can hold out. These hopes have generally been disappointed.

Information from the Russian campaign is still fragmentary but there is much reason to believe that the Russians have done as well as they have because they had planes and tanks to fight planes and tanks. Perhaps the nature and extent of the terrain presented special handicaps to Germany's armored divisions. Perhaps, too, the Russian infantry and artillery have learned methods of destroying tanks, which had not been found in western Europe. The greater probability is that the advance of the German armored columns was slowed by opposition from Russian armored columns.

At any rate, the old-fashioned method of advancing by means of artillery preparation and infantry rushes should be relegated to the museums of outworn tactics. The modern method of advance is in tanks. Likewise the defensive methods of the last war are equally out of date. Tanks cannot be stopped, as advancing infantry in the last war were stopped, by machine gun fire and an artillery barrage. The successful armies today are those which have the most, the fastest, and the hardest hitting tank corps. It is to be hoped that our military authorities will promptly recognize that fact.

EXPLOITING PREJUDICE.

[Spokesman-Review, Spokane.]

Unfortunately there is race prejudice in the United States. It is more pronounced in some sections of the country than in others. It is one of the problems of democracy that has not as yet been solved. There is no quick and simple solution in sight. If it is solved, it will be by a process of adjustment and education, carried on in a spirit of mutual tolerance and good will.

Certainly no advance toward a solution is made when race prejudice is exploited to promote further class division and animosity, as in a statement submitted to the house judiciary subcommittee by the CIO director of labor's nonpartisan league.

The statement seeks to fix responsibility for fostering race prejudice upon private employers by charging that rich and powerful corporations discriminate against Negro workers. This is unfair, if not dishonest in its implications, for most corporations have little or no freedom to choose those whom they employ under their contracts with unions. That is one of the former functions of management that has been taken over by the unions.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

THE MILITARY VOCABULARY.

Bunker: A new word for extended field fortifications in a defensive line designed for permanence. It first came into use in the dispatches from the German-Polish front. The characteristics of a "bunker" have not been adequately described by the current breed of war correspondents. One may assume that it means emplacements for machine guns and light artillery, covered with sodded earth and resembling, at a distance, a natural swell in the land. Webster's unabridged, 1940 edition, does not define this use of "bunker."

Communiqué: French for official communication of war information. It came into use in the last European war; then as now the communiqués almost invariably described both sides as winning. It should be printed with the "e" accented to indicate the French pronunciation.

Matériel: French for military weapons, machines and supplies. It also came into general use in the last war. Slightly out of fashion since June, 1940.

Panzer: German for armor and any kind of metallic military protection, ancient or modern. The common newspaper usage of the phrase, "panzer [armored] division," is redundant and therefore unnecessary. "Armored division" would be quite enough.

Sector: A geometrical term for a part of the area within a circle, resembling a slice of pie. A subdivision of a defensive system, extending along the front to the maximum range of the weapons of the force holding it. Another contribution of the last European war.

Luftwaffe: German for air force. "Luft" means "air," "waffe" means "weapon." Why not say "air force"?

YOUNG LOVE.

A boy and girl were walking, hands entwined.
The boy was building futures, silver-lined;
He told her of his hopes and sun-bright dreams,
He spoke of distant lands that they would see.
The world he wove was spun with stardust seams,
And guaranteed for all eternity.
The sun slipped home, and yet the boy talked on.
She did not speak, but smiled, woman-wise;
He puzzled her . . . with talk of future dawns.
She watched the lights that played within his eyes.
This was something she could understand,
Walking with her loved one, slowly, hand in hand.

1846 to Nov. 6, 1860, beardless; Nov. 25, 1860, to Feb. 2, 1862, heavy beard; Feb. 3, 1862, to Dec. 31, 1864, light beard; Jan. 1, 1865, to April 14, 1865, very light beard.

POP AND MOM AND BUB.

Our house is sad and lonely
And quietlike, and drear—
There's me and Sister, only;
Our Mom, she isn't here.

She used to fix good things to eat;
She mended all our clothes;
She was the best Mom on our street,
As everybody knows.

Now Sister does the best she can
To keep me looking right;
She says, "Now be a little man,"
And tucks me in at night.

When Pop comes home for dinner,
He doesn't want to play;
I think he's getting thinner,
Since Mom has gone away.

I hoped perhaps he'd take a walk,
But all he does is frown;
He doesn't even want to talk—
He's like that when he's down.

I asked him if 'twas very far—
If Mom had left the city;
He growled "She's at the church bazaar;
She's head of the committee."

When All the Moons Were Honeymoons.

Speaking of the Princess theater [July 18], soon to be destroyed: How about "The Goddess of Liberty"? It ran for 365 performances, with Sally Fisher singing "If All the Moons Were Honeymoons." The leading man was George Parsons. Remember? I do, for I was in the company.

Parking Lots for Playgoers.

The list of old Chicago theaters that have become parking lots [July 18] is longer than you think. You might add to it: The Academy, Halsted near Madison; the Bijou, Halsted and Jackson; the Hopkins, State near Congress, and the New American, Kinzie and Clark.

PRICKLY HEAT AND CHAFING

DURING the summer season, most of us will excrete volumes of water via the skin. Ordinarily, perspiration—altho it contains a number of minerals and a generous amount of waste—is not troublesome. But should the output be large, some irritation of the sweat glands may ensue. Thoroly soaked and softened cells may swell and obstruct the outlet ducts. Such a situation constitutes an invitation to plant fungi to grow and to produce toxins which add fuel to the flames of inflammation. When bacteria add their vicious rôles, boils may appear as unwelcome guests.

Strangely enough, those with industrious oil glands suffer the least, the fatty material serving as a protective coating—waterproofing the parts.

The ensuing disorder which we call "prickly heat" is characterized by small, raised, bright red hills on the epidermis. Interspersed here and there are minute blisters which, within a few days, become milky, eventually drying up with the formation of small scabs.

Patches of this type of eruption may appear anywhere, with the exception of the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet. They are more extensive, however, where surfaces are close together or where garments are snug — particularly about the waist, the neck, etc.

As we would expect, exertion increases the severity of the condition. As the temperature rises, the rash becomes angry in appearance and the resultant itching is often well nigh unbearable. Victims are advised to avoid huge quantities of fluids, to keep away from overheated surroundings, and to wear thin, loose clothing—as few pieces as possible.

Relief is often secured by means of a daily bath, followed by anointing the body lightly but completely with some bland ointment. Cold cream, sterile olive oil, or cocoabutter will suffice. A lotion composed of 2 per cent formaldehyde in alcohol may be applied several times daily. Another useful remedy is salicylic acid. A dram of this powder may be dissolved in 8 ounces of alcohol and used at intervals.

For smarting or itching, tub baths are advised. The water may be rendered alkaline by adding one-half to two-thirds of a cupful of baking soda. After drying the body, a borated dusting powder may be employed. Excellent results are also reported from the injection of the patient's own blood directly into the muscles twice each week. Starting with 1 cc., the dose may be increased gradually to a teaspoonful.

Another common summer annoyance is chafing. This affects chiefly infants and those who are overweight. Folds near the groin, the areas beneath the breasts, the armpits, the bends of the elbows, or the region of the neck are favorite sites. Here we are confronted with the same starter — namely, perspiration plus friction. In addition, there is too little activity on the part of the sebaceous [fat] glands.

The important thing is to keep the area dry. Frequent bathing is necessary. Then comes the application of cornstarch powder. In severe cases a solution of 2 per cent formaldehyde will prove helpful.

When babies are cross and fretful, we may well look to the skin for the answer. Do not spare the talcum. Sufficient changes should be the rule.

BARNACLE BILL.

Bill writes: When I rise from a sitting position, and when I yawn, my lower back hurts. I have been told that I have barnacles on my spine. Is this possible?

REPLY.

Not barnacles but probably an overgrowth of bone due to arthritis. You could scrape off the shells but the condition which makes the lower spine immovable, and which may cause pain, must be attacked by your physician. Look to possible infection or bad nutrition. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on home aids for arthritis.

LUNG ABSCESS.

A. L. writes: What causes an abscess of the lung?

REPLY.

Such lesions may follow an infection [such as pneumonia], a plug within an artery, or the inhalation of a foreign body. Expert management is required.

NO.

A. J. writes: Is hay fever contagious? Can it be contracted by kissing?

REPLY.

No. It is the personal property of the sufferer. It cannot be transmitted by osculation—no matter how violent.

APPROVAL FROM A HERO.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 25.—Congratulations on one of the most constructive and patriotic jobs recorded thus far in this unhappy and beclouded period of American history. I am referring, of course, to the poll you recently conducted to learn what the people of your section think of getting into the war.

We have been deluged by propaganda distorted facts, and by name calling at a time when we are in dire need of plain, unvarnished truth. Then you stepped into this muddle and drew a sharp, clean, and clear total with this poll. Grand work!

I believe every American who really has his country at heart owes you a vote of thanks, and this letter is to get mine to you without further delay.

PEORIAN ASKS APOLOGY.

Peoria, Ill., July 24.—Your editorial, "Citadel of Ignorance," should be resented by all Peorians and former Peorians, regardless of how they feel about the controversial "dog question."

Do you not believe in home rule for cities down state? Why don't you suggest a round up of dogs in Chicago if you are in earnest?

I would not call Chicago "a citadel of gangsters" and reflect on the thousands of fine citizens in Chicago simply because crime at times is rampant.

Be a good sport and apologize to the fine citizens of Peoria for the reflection in your editorial. EDWARD F. STOCK.

A WORD FROM "UNION NOW."

New York, July 23.—I have only now seen the clippings of The Tribune reports of our Cleveland convention. I take this occasion to thank you for the generous space given us and for assigning so capable a reporter [George Morgenstern] to us. As a former reporter myself, I appreciate his difficulties on that assignment and therefore the good job that he did.

I am the happier in writing you this note of thanks, in view of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial policy. It shows a misunderstanding of our proposal that I greatly regret, and that I believe a fuller examination would remove.

WACKER DRIVE PAVING.

Chicago, July 24.—As the guardian of civic welfare, please note the bad condition of Wacker drive and some of its approaches.

It is evident that the city was mulcted out of a lot of money when the improvements were made. At the rate of crumbling the concrete has made since it was put in, the whole thing will fall apart shortly.

Somebody ought to make restitution for it or be shown up as incompetent.

JACK MILLER.

A DOG AND HUMAN SUFFERING.

Chicago, July 23.—In answer to Mrs. Thelma D. Edgerton I wonder if she thinks the doctors and scientists vivisect dogs for their own pleasure. I am not a cold blooded creature; in fact I have a dog of my own. But if in any way, the vivisection of a dog could alleviate human suffering don't you think that dog's life would have been well compensated for?

ROBERT G. SCOTT.

AN UNUSUAL FARM FAMILY.

Twin Lakes, Mich., July 25.—Down at the foot of the hill from our log cabin is an unusual farm, owned and run by interesting people. The family consists of mother, father, son, and his wife. This farm was a government grant, and these same people have lived on it for 75 years. The mother can paper a room or hoe a row of corn equally well. Last year she painted the outside of their two story house. She makes the most beautiful rugs, as well as the daintiest lace doilies. The daughter keeps the home spotlessly clean, while father and son milk dozens of cows, besides planting and harvesting the crops. There is no lost motion here. They are taking care of two half grown orphan boys, sending them to school, and teaching them to be farmers.

We spent last evening with them—not a word was said about politics, wars, or other ills of the world, but they told of their deer hunting and their many interesting sports. I asked if they were lonely in winter when they were living under snow, and they said that was their happiest time. With their cellars and barns well filled with good things, they had time for play and there was never an evening that friends didn't come to help pop the corn, eat apples, and play games.

After an evening with them we felt a peculiar contentment that comes only from people who have learned the art of living. ANNE JESTY ROGERS.

HER SHOULDER A PILLOW.

Chicago, July 24.—I don't mind standing up on a crowded street car all the way home from a hard day's work, or if, when I do get a seat, have some one fall all over me every now and then, or having the back of my hair torn apart by the newspaper behind me, or having an elbow stuck in my face every time the amateur newspaper folder next to me decided to turn the page, or have some one reading a story out of my paper and then give me a dirty look when I turn the page if my story continues on another page and he or she was not quite finished. I don't even mind when people go to sleep on themselves while riding. But—when they start using my shoulder for a pillow or head rest—then I think it's time to say something.

Three people, two of them women, have used my shoulder as a pillow in the last 12 days on my ride home from work on a Clark street car from Madison street to Belmont avenue. Perhaps the surface lines should install sleepers for sleepers. If those people would sacrifice one evening's pleasure and stay home and sleep I am sure they would realize just how much they needed it.

RAILWAY LABORERS.

Chicago, July 24.—A meeting is in progress here in Chicago over wages for the highly paid railway workers: Engineers, firemen, brakemen, etc., but not the lowly paid laborer. We work seven days a week and receive 43 cents an hour. No time and a half for overtime.

Why don't some of these big rail labor leaders insist that our group receive a measurable wage increase?

A MAN DIES ON THE BEACH.

Chicago, July 24.—A man died today at twilight. His body was stretched out on the beach at Foster avenue. A grim ring of watchers looked on helplessly as the firemen, lifeguards, and the physicians from Edgewater Beach hotel tried in vain to save his life.

A minister read the last rites and many heads bowed in prayer. One question was in the minds of all. Why should a life be lost so easily, especially of one so young with so much to live for? No one found the answer.

This leads to a query. At every beach you'll find some venturesome person who will swim out too far. It is not logical for the lifeguard to row out and keep an eye on him alone at the neglect of the many others swimmers under his surveillance. Did I say row? And why not have outboard motors on their rowboats? Why should the lifeguard have to row when a life is in danger? The minutes saved could well save that life. A split second in artificial respiration might be the one that will revive that failing heart. STEPHEN THOMAS SPILOS.

SPRUCE LUMBER PLENTIFUL.

Chicago, July 24.—I note your article about steel for grain storage bins.

While we are sitting here holding six or eight million feet of spruce for sale and prompt shipment, it would rather seem that Representative Mundt of South Dakota is "out of order" in stating that all available lumber supplies are exhausted and therefore wants the government to furnish 16,000 tons of galvanized steel for granaries.

Defense activities make a shortage of steel. They can get plenty of spruce lumber, and prompt shipment.

HE LIKED THE CARTOON.

Stephenville, Tex., July 24.—Your cartoon in the Sunday Tribune, "International Marriage," was about the finest thing I ever saw in my life. It seemed Uncle Sam had a withered leg, the one reaching Iceland. That leg must have been pulled unexpectedly.

Gosh, I wonder whom they are going to get to play the Internationale when Uncle Sam marries Russia?

It seems to me Uncle Sam is big enough and old enough to be weaned from Europe. J. E. FITZGERALD.

ARREST WITHOUT WARRANT.

Chicago, July 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Has a police officer the right to come into one's home and [2] arrest one without a warrant?

3. If so, under what circumstances?

4. Can charges be preferred two and a half weeks after an incident occurred?

B. S.

1. In general no, without a warrant.

2. Illinois Revised Statutes, chapter 38, section 657 authorizes an officer to arrest without warrant for a criminal offense committed or attempted in his presence and when he has reasonable grounds to believe that the person to be arrested committed it. The question whether this includes the right to break doors is not well settled. See 5 C. J. 427.

3. See 2. If you will state your facts we will be in a better position to advise you.

FOOD HIJACKERS IN BRITAIN FOIL SCOTLAND YARD

Truckloads Stolen Daily for 'Black Markets.'

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 27.—Alarmed by the frequent thefts in the London area of trucks containing foodstuffs, Scotland Yard detectives are watching agents employed in wholesale markets and food depots who, it is believed, inform thieves about the movements of the laden vehicles.

Robberies of this kind have taken place almost daily for months, and police authorities suspect that there are several gangs of food hi-jackers operating for "black market" dealers. Special instructions already have been given truck drivers not to leave their vehicles unattended even for a moment, but despite this, trucks disappear, more and more every day, according to the Daily Telegraph.

Night Trucks Raided Constantly.

An associate of one of the largest wholesale and retail grocers in the country said yesterday, "We are finding it almost impossible to cope with the organized robbery. Trucks that travel at night are raided constantly."

Another pressing food problem is the spoilage of eggs because of delayed release under the present egg rationing scheme. According to this morning's tabloid Daily Mirror 30,000 eggs went bad in Preston, Lancashire.

"It was just one more example of the waste and muddle that has overtaken the food ministry's egg rationing scheme," the Mirror charged, adding that "unless there is rapid ministry action to sanction the release of eggs, it is feared in the Fylde district of Lancashire—the largest egg producing area in the world—millions more eggs may go bad."

Imported Eggs Also Problem.

The Mirror cited the case of a wholesaler who was carrying a stock of eggs "which went into cold storage in America last Feb. 2. They were released on May 13, crossed the Atlantic and are now in British dock warehouses—as far as ever from the breakfast table."

Because of the deterioration in transit, imported eggs will be withdrawn from the registration scheme and sold quickly at one cent each, the food ministry announced today. The first consignment of such eggs will be on sale by the end of the week in London and several other large cities and will be labeled "imported cooking eggs."

It is the food ministry's intention, THE TRIBUNE learned, to restrict the relase of eggs under the control scheme to eggs suitable for all purposes. Within the first three weeks of operation of the controled distribution scheme, 200 hundred million eggs, it is said, passed thru government packing stations.

Girl Inmates Riot

CALL RIOT SQUAD TO QUELL REVOLT IN GIRLS' PRISON

Seize Seven Inmates of Geneva School.

Seven inmates of the State Training School for Girls at Geneva were held in the Kane county jail last night after they barricaded themselves in a cottage recreation room in rebellion against a punishment order.

The girls, all colored, challenged authorities "to come in and get us" when they were denied outside recreation privileges for yelling encouragement to three white girls who attempted to escape from the institution Saturday night. The fleeing girls were captured a few minutes later.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, managing officer of the school, put in a riot call to Kane county authorities after other girls in nearby cottages threatened to get out of hand. The girls removed the barricades and gave up when Sheriff Marcus W. Damisch and seven deputies arrived. They were taken to the county jail at Geneva to await charges by Mrs. Lewis.

Razor Blades Seized.

Two razor blades and a small pen knife were taken from the girls at the jail.

The rioting started after the girls refused to return to their rooms following a brief recreation period yesterday morning, Mrs. Lewis told Sheriff Damisch. Three doors were smashed, furniture overturned, and plaster torn loose as they demanded that the punishment be rescinded.

After barricading the door with a piano and a large flower stand, the girls broke into the housekeeping matron's room next door, put on her silk dresses, used up all her powder and lipstick, returned to the recreation room, and began overturning furniture.

Others Begin Hooting.

The other girls in the cottage were locked in their rooms after the rioting started, and they, too, began hooting and cat-calling.

Mrs. Lewis came to Hope cottage and appealed for order, but she was shouted down. She then called Sheriff Damisch.

All of the girls are Chicagoans and have been inmates at the institution for an average of two years. They are: Evelyn Neita, 16 years old, 3326 Indiana avenue; Katie Okennard, 19, 4717 Champlain avenue; Wilma J. Draughn, 16, 4636 Vincennes avenue; Ossie Jackson, 15, 4609 Champlain avenue; Elizabeth McWilliams, 18, 3202 Vernon avenue; Gladys Adams, 17, 1026 Roosevelt road, and Mary Hicks, 17, 1451 West 13th street.

10,000 TO START BUYING WOMEN'S CLOTHES TODAY

The invasion of Chicago by thousands of buyers of women's wearing apparel for the annual fall market begins today.

Ten thousand buyers from thruout the middle west will attend the fashion market opening of the Style Exhibitors, Inc., in the Morrison hotel. The market will run to Aug. 9 with two large fashion reviews being held tomorrow evening and Monday, Aug. 4, in the Terrace Casino.

"A changing silhouette for a changing era" will be the theme of two breakfast clinics to be held by the Women's, Children's, Infants' Wearing Apparel and Accessories association Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 5 and 6, in the Merchandise Mart. The clinics will highlight the second week of the association's annual fall market, which opens today.

HOLD 2 ACCUSED OF SEX CRIME AGAINST GIRLS, 8

Dr. Edward W. Applegate, 3130 Fullerton avenue, and Irwin E. Harder, 2115 Dayton street, were held by Shakespeare avenue police yesterday on the complaints of the parents of two 8 year old girls. The parents accused Dr. Applegate and Harder of molesting their children.

Dr. Applegate, who is 60 years old, and a dentist, denied the accusation, as did Harder, 58, a musician and a patient of the dentist. No formal charges have been placed against them. They were seized Saturday.

In arresting Dr. Applegate detectives found a small arsenal in his Fullerton avenue home and office. It included a .22 caliber target rifle, a 12 gauge shotgun, a .45 caliber automatic pistol, and approximately 900 rounds of ammunition. There also were three axes of a type used in hunting camps, and a length of rope.

5 FROM CHICAGO AREA DROWNED; TWO RESCUED

Five persons, two from Chicago and three from suburban areas, were drowned yesterday. Two others were rescued.

Kenneth Helmkamp, 16 years old, 4228 South Mozart street, drowned in 4½ feet of water in Lake Michigan near Tremont, Ind. Frank Novak, 26, of 2122 North Western avenue, lost his life in Paddocks lake, 16 miles west of Kenosha, Wis., when he lost his hold while being towed behind a rowboat.

Unnoticed by other swimmers, Anthony Guadagno Jr., 12, of North avenue and River road, Leyden township, sank in 18 feet of water in a pool at North and 5th avenues, in the same township. Jeanette Ondrus, 11, of 3838 South Wesley avenue, Berwyn, drowned in the Fox river at Sheridan, La Salle county.

Joseph Berschinski, 13, of 55 East 137th street, Riverdale, drowned in Harmon pool in Harvey.

Firemen rescued Olga Syss, 18, of 3310 Parnell avenue, after her left leg was caught in underwater piling at 29th street and the lake. They greased her leg, enabling her to work it free. Walter J. Carrow, 47, 2423 North Mozart street, was carried ashore after sinking in Bangs lake, Wauconda, Lake county, and revived by Police Chief Clement Dacey and Dr. J. A. Ross. Earl Padderson, of the Mozart street address, a brother-in-law of Carrow, brought him ashore and aided in reviving him.

The body of Donald Carlson, 3, of Hickoryville, 3 miles north of Elgin, Kane county, who was drowned Saturday night in the Fox river near his home, was recovered yesterday a mile south of his home.

BOY, 11, LOADING PICNIC SUPPLIES, KILLED BY AUTO

Preparations for a family picnic ended in tragedy yesterday when Edward DeVoney Jr., 11 years old, 704 Evergreen avenue, was crushed against the family car by an auto driven by William Burnett, 35, of 1421 North Dearborn street. The accident occurred in front of 1425 North Ogden avenue, home of the boy's uncle. The youngster died in Henrotin hospital.

Police said Burnett had been drinking and crashed into the rear of the DeVoney car while the boy was loading picnic supplies in the trunk. Miss Dorothy McLaughlin, 26, of Kankakee, in the DeVoney car, was injured. Burnett, a telegraph messenger, admitted having had three beers, according to police, and said he "must have dozed."

Gerardo Criscuolo, 60, 5010 South Keeler avenue, a janitor, was fatally injured by an automobile in Archer avenue near Kildare avenue. He died in the Holy Cross hospital. The driver was John Gedwill, 48, of 5808 South Rutherford avenue.

Frederick C. Beckert, 76, a retired hardware merchant and village official of Huntley, in McHenry county, was killed by an automobile in Main street, Huntley, yesterday. The driver was Miss Mary Berknider of Marengo, McHenry county.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 531 persons had died in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 374 were killed in Chicago, where 13,823 were injured in the same period.

ASKS END OF BAN ON COLLECTION OF WASTEPAPER

The ban on wastepaper collectors in certain restricted residential sections in Chicago is depriving the paper industry of 4,000 to 5,000 tons of wastepaper every month, Leon Henderson, administrator of Price Control and Civilian Supply, wrote Mayor Kelly yesterday.

Henderson asked the mayor to "do everything possible" to remove the restrictions in order to help avert a paper shortage. He said supplies of wastepaper now available are not sufficient to permit paper board mills to meet the nation's rapidly expanding civilian and rearmament needs.

"No Peddlers Allowed" signs in many city residential areas prohibit junk and paper dealers, as well as peddlers, from making their rounds in certain districts.

WOMAN BREAKS HUNGER STRIKE AFTER 18 DAYS

Glencoe, Minn., July 27 (AP).—Plans for the forced feeding of Mrs. Eleanor Jeffrey were abandoned today when the 42 year old woman broke her 18 day hunger strike by drinking milk and promising Sheriff Arthur Tessmer she would begin taking food again. She had lost 20 pounds.

Mrs. Jeffrey, who started the hunger strike in protest against arson charges following burning of her hatchery here May 15, previously had declared "you're going to have a battle on your hands" when the forced feeding plans were disclosed to her.

HOMER K. GALPIN, POLITICAL FIGURE FOR YEARS, DIES

Started Career in 1890s as Ward Worker.

Homer K. Galpin, long a figure in city and state politics, died yesterday in Grant hospital, where he had been taken a week ago after becoming ill in his summer home at Phelps, Wis. He was 71 years old.

Homer K. Galpin.

Galpin's political career began in the '90s when, as a young lawyer, he became an active Republican worker in the old 20th ward. In 1901 he was elected chief clerk of the county board of review, and three years later became a state senator. Later he was elected clerk of the Municipal court.

Becomes a Ward Boss.

In the next two decades, Galpin rose rapidly in Republican politics, becoming boss of the 27th ward. In 1914, he was named chairman of the Cook county Republican committee, and held that post for nearly 14 years. He was commonly credited with being the brains of a political machine of a former Republican mayor, and Robert E. Crowe.

In 1928 he managed the campaign fund of this machine, a fund to which, it was reported, gamblers and bootleggers contributed. When the entire slate lost in the primaries, an inquiry was started by the grand jury regarding the funds received by Galpin.

Evades Subpena Two Years.

For two years he evaded a subpena, keeping out of jurisdiction of Cook county. He became known as "Homeless Homer" and spent his summers in Wisconsin and winters in Florida. Later, when the Crowe faction and the rival group, that of the late Senator Charles Deneen, declared a truce, Galpin resigned his chairmanship of the county committee and went off to Europe with his wife.

He later returned, and in 1932 managed the county campaign of Omer N. Custer for the Republican nomination for governor. Still later he was appointed by Gov. Emmerson to the Illinois tax commission, of which Custer was chairman. After his term was up, he dropped out of the political picture completely. Funeral services today will be private.

REPORT FATHER PUNISHES SON WITH GAS FLAME

Jefferson Park police yesterday were investigating reports that a father held the hands of his 7 year old son over a gas stove flame to punish him for a juvenile theft. The boy's hands are in a festered and serious condition as a result.

According to police, the boy, while on a treasure hunt in a northwest side park on July 17, took $1.85 from the purse of the woman in charge of the game. His mother forced him to return the money, then told the father.

Police said the latter announced, "There will be no thieves in this family," then held the boy's hands over a flaming burner, searing the palms and fingers. No medical attention was given. Sometime later a park policeman noticed the boy's hands were swollen, made inquiries, and then notified Jefferson Park police. Police took the boy to a physician at once. Juvenile police are to take over the inquiry today.

BABY ABANDONED IN CHURCH; MAN AND WOMAN FLEE

Miss Vera Mogan, a nurse living at 830 South Michigan avenue, found a baby boy smiling at her yesterday when she walked into the chapel of St. Mary's church at 9th street and Wabash avenue. Observing a note pinned to the child's dress, she read:

"Please take good care of him. I can't keep him. I haven't the money. But I love him. Born June 29."

Miss Mogan went to call for help and met a young man and woman wandering about the church. The woman burst into tears upon hearing the story. Miss Mogan asked her to hold the child and went to find the priest. When the nurse returned, the young couple had gone and the baby was lying on a bench. Near the place where he was originally found a box of baby's clothes was discovered. The baby was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage, while police began a search for the mother.

BURGLARS ESCAPE POLICE.

A watchman telephoned police yesterday when he discovered two men trying to break into the office of the J. F. Martin Cartage company at 714 South Racine avenue. Detective Louis Kustusch and his squad arrived in time to see the burglars fleeing, but the fugitives made their escape.

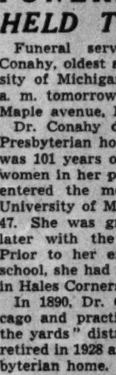
EDWARD M'LEAN, EX-WASHINGTON PUBLISHER, DIES

Succumbs of Heart Ailment at 55.

Baltimore, Md., July 27 [Special].—Edward B. McLean, 55 years old, former owner of the Washington Post and heir to the Cincinnati [O.] Enquirer, died of a heart ailment today in a suburban sanitarium, where he had been a patient for eight years.



[A.P. Wirephoto.]
Edward B. McLean.

McLean was the only son of John R. McLean, who made a Cincinnati newspaper and moved on to Washington to increase it with the Post.

Owner of Hope Diamond.

Educated privately by tutors, McLean learned the newspaper business in Washington. He first came into the public eye in 1908 when he married Evalyn Walsh, sole heir to the millions of Thomas Walsh, a Colorado mine owner.

In 1912 McLean bought the Hope diamond for $260,000.

He assumed direction of the Washington Post in 1916 and spent much time and money building up one of the largest racing stables in the country.

McLean had become a close friend of Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio and when Harding became President of the United States in 1920 the McLeans assumed a dominating position in Washington society.

Involved with A. B. Fall.

After the death of President Harding McLean became involved in the Teapot Dome oil scandal with Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior. Fall later went to prison for his part in the scandal.

In 1933 McLean was declared insane and was removed from the trusteeship of the Washington Post. Mrs. McLean later sold the newspaper.

In addition to his widow, McLean is survived by two sons, John R. and Edward B. Jr., and a daughter, Evalyn.

DR. MARY CONAHY FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Dr. Mary Conahy, oldest alumna of the University of Michigan, will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow in a chapel at 1567 Maple avenue, Evanston.

Dr. Conahy died Saturday in the Presbyterian home in Evanston. She was 101 years old. A pioneer among women in her profession, Dr. Conahy entered the medical school at the University of Michigan at the age of 47. She was graduated three years later with the first medical class. Prior to her entrance into medical school, she had been a school teacher in Hales Corners, Wis.

In 1890, Dr. Conahy came to Chicago and practiced in the "back of the yards" district for 38 years. She retired in 1928 and moved to the Presbyterian home.

FATALLY STABBED AT TAVERN.

Des Plaines street police are investigating the death of Epiano Carrizales, 23 years old, 9030 Burley avenue, found stabbed in front of a tavern at 13 South Halsted street yesterday.

Lord Rennell of Rodd.

LONDON, July 27.—Lord Rennell of Rodd, last surviving British ambassador of the pre-1914 era, died today after a short illness in his Surrey home. He was 82 years old, and had filled many diplomatic posts. His eldest son, Francis James Rennell Rodd, 46, succeeds to the title.

Dr. Frank Nelson.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 27 (AP).—Dr. Frank Nelson, 75, religious and educational worker, died today. He was a lay leader and for many years was president of the Augustana synod.

Arthur J. Secor.

Toledo, O., July 27 (AP).—Arthur J. Secor, 83, member of one of Toledo's pioneer families and prominent in art and financial circles, died in a hospital today three hours after being found in the basement of his home with a bullet in his head. Dr. A. L. Steinfeld, summoned by a maid, said a gun was found in Secor's right hand. Police Detective Fred Tank reported the death apparently was suicide. Secor retired from the wholesale grocery business many years ago to manage his real estate and financial holdings. Several years ago he donated his extensive private art gallery to the Toledo Museum of Art.

William L. Smyser.

Funeral services for William L. Smyser, veteran Chicago educator, will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel in Palatine. Mr. Smyser, who lived at 803 Graceland avenue, Des Plaines, died Saturday. He retired in 1935 after 30 years as a principal and teacher in schools on the northwest side. Among the schools he headed and developed were the Portage Park, Edison Park, Onahan, Farnsworth, Hitch, and Prussing schools. Mr. Smyser is survived by his widow, Matilda; a daughter, Mrs. Howard Van Dyke, and a granddaughter, Corinne.

The Most Rev. Felix Couturier.

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., July 27 (AP).—The Most Rev. Felix Couturier, 65 years olds, third Roman Catholic bishop of Alexandria, died early today after a long illness. A member of the Dominican order, he was assistant principal chaplain of the British army in Egypt and Palestine in the World war and was awarded the military cross while on active service and later the order of the British empire.

FIND WIDE OPEN GAMING IN LAVISH CLUB NEAR CITY

Crime Fighters Visit Nitti Gang's Esquire.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Observers for the Chicago Crime commission reported last night that the Esquire club on Waukegan road north of Lake avenue is running a wide open gambling house. They said they found 275 to 300 persons playing keno, roulette, craps, blackjack, and feeding coins by the hundreds into 25 slot machines in lavish surroundings.

Rudolph W. Dvorak, acting director of the commission, sent the observers to the Esquire. He reported his findings to Bertram J. Cahn, president of the commission.

Club Run By Vogel.

Its ownership is not in doubt, Dvorak declared. Edward Vogel, survivor of the Capone gang and for many years the slot machine boss for the Nitti gang, is its boss. It was being operated as tho it were legal, the observers declared, and with utter disregard of the possibility of a raid.

"I shall discuss the Cook county gambling situation with State's Attorney Courtney tomorrow," said President Cahn after hearing the reports last night. "For some time we have been considering the problem of lack of law enforcement against the slot machines now numbering thousands all over the country."

Last week Cahn reported Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien said he was too busy collecting taxes to be bothered about slot machines. Chief Lester Laird of the highway police, his subordinate, was charged with responsibility for enforcement of the laws against gambling, the sheriff stated.

Assails O'Brien's Alibi.

"Sheriff O'Brien's cry that he has not enough men to stamp out slot machines and notorious gambling joints such as may be found at the Esquire club is rather weak," Dvorak commented last night.

"Our observers had no difficulty finding the place or taking part in the keno games. These pay $500 in prizes every night and $1,000 on Thursday. The gangsters expect to be in business for a long time because there is a sign on the wall apologizing for the lack of an electric flash board. Such a board is promised.

The attendants are most polite. Parking of cars is arranged to save the customers from the slightest inconvenience. In between keno drawings, the public may patronize the other games.

"There is no doubt the Nitti gang is reaping a fortune from tolerated gambling in Cook county."

MORE RESULTS, LESS HEROISM, MARILYN ASKS

The bride languished in jail yesterday. Her husband and her ex-boy friend were both scouring the town for $150 to bail her out. Between them, she said, they had raised enough money. But they wouldn't bury the hatchet and pool their funds, even to get her out, she complained, for they just don't care for each other.

The bride is Mrs. Marilyn Kuziel, 18 years old, of 2440 West 25th street. Her husband is Emil, 22. The other fellow is Jerome Kempski, 29, of 2621 18th street.

Marilyn and Emil stopped for a soda yesterday morning in a soda parlor at Cermak road and Washtenaw avenue. In popped Jerome. Words followed. Then action.

Emil's friends were there. They went to Emil's defense, Marilyn went to Jerome's, and Jerome, outnumbered, fled.

Marilyn jumped into his car and drove off to pick him up and save him from her husband and his comrades. The pursuers sprang into another car and followed her.

Marilyn forgot Jerome and stepped on the gas so hard that eventually she drove over an 18 inch curb at California avenue and 23d street, where Park Policeman Thomas Hoban and Frank Spry arrested her. They locked her up at the Central station on five traffic charges—bond $150.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR 3 SUSPECTS IN ALKY SHOOTING

Police continued their search yesterday for three men wanted for questioning in connection with the shooting of Frank Zito, 26 years old, in an alley at Garibaldi place and Taylor street early Saturday.

A fourth man, Joe Montana Jr., 35 years old, was held by Maxwell street police after Zito identified him as one of his assailants.

Zito, under indictment in federal District court charged with the operation of a still, is in a grave condition in the County hospital. He told police that the four men accused him of informing government agents of the location of another still. Montana denied any knowledge of the shooting.

24 of 30 Rodeo Performers Ill from Food Poisoning

Kokomo, Ind., July 27 (AP).—Performers dropped out one by one in the Wild Bill Armour rodeo here tonight until 24 of the 30 cowboys and cowgirls were lying ill with food poisoning. Three were reported in critical condition. The performers had eaten together at a cook house on the lot.

DANCE AND PICK A QUEEN AT 28TH SWEDISH OUTING

Scandinavian folk dances and a queen contest featured the 28th annual summer festival of the Swedish National Society of Chicago, held yesterday in Linne wood of the forest preserve at Morton Grove.

Nearly 3,500 persons attended the outing. County Commissioner W. N. Erickson delivered the principal address. Miss Inez Swanson, 18 years old, 1110 Newport avenue, representing the north side, was chosen queen of the festival. Miss Dorothy Swanson, 18, of 71 East 79th street, representing the south side, was second, and Miss Aileen Sholin, 19, of 2307 Devon avenue, the west side, was third.

The Swedish National Society of Chicago embraces 75 Scandinavian groups representing 35,000 members. Ellis F. Hillner is president, and Carl H. Lundquist, an assistant corporation counsel, is board chairman.

FOREST VESPERS CLOSE; CROWDS TOTAL 100,000

The 1941 season of Sunday vesper services in the forest preserves came to a close yesterday. Forest preserve officials, who sponsored the concerts in coöperation with THE TRIBUNE, said that 100,000 persons had heard the song services during the season.

The Steinmetz Girls' choir sang yesterday at Caldwell woods, under the direction of Willard L. Groom. The Naperville YMCA Male chorus sang at Dan Ryan Woods, under the direction of Mrs. Grace T. Fredenhagen. Lucy Atkinson led the Chicago concert chorus in Thatcher woods.

Arrangements were in charge of George Smith, Frank Blake and Don Joyce, the forest preserve division superintendents, and William O'Malley, public relations director of the forest preserve district.

G. O. P. WILL ADD 70 HOUSE SEATS IN '42, STATE CHIEFS TOLD

Baraboo, Wis., July 27 [Special].—Republicans are confident of winning at least 70 new congressmen in next year's elections, Representative William Ditter, Pennsylvania, told a meeting of midwestern state chairmen here today. This number, added to the 162 now in the house, would give the party a majority, he pointed out.

Representative Joseph W. Martin, chairman of the national committee, also expressed optimism over Republican chances for gains next year. Martin and Ditter will be the chief speakers at the state Republican convention to be held in a circus tent on Ringling's farm near here tomorrow.

Ditter assailed the New Deal administration's handling of the defense program. "If the Republicans had been in power," he said, "and if there had not been the guerrilla warfare that has existed on the part of government toward private enterprise, we would not now be panicky over slow production."

IF YOU NEED $100 HERE'S WHAT TO DO

How to borrow cash quickly and simply and repay in monthly installments which fit your own income

CAN YOU make good use of $100? Investigate our loan plans today. Household Finance offers three simple ways for you to borrow up to $300. Your loan will be made the way which best suits your own situation.

1. Signature loans. No security needed. These loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples.

2. Auto loans. A loan on your car may best fit your needs.

3. Furniture loans. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Many borrowers use this plan.

No endorsers needed

Whichever way you borrow, it is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get the loan you need simply, privately and speedily.

You may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments as shown in the table. Monthly installments of $9.77 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

Borrow for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. It's good business to compare rates before you borrow.

If you need money, here's what to do. Come to Household. Or just phone and say you need a loan. We're here to serve you. Phone or visit us today without obligation.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

HOT DOGS DRAW 5,000 TO RACINE DEMOCRAT RALLY

Racine, Wis., July 27 [Special].—Hot dogs and sauerkraut, oratory and free beer cheered some 5,000 Wisconsin Democrats that gathered today in the torrid heat beneath the tree at Muskego beach.

A United States senator, a congressman, and two Democratic congressional candidates and the national committeeman from Pennsylvania hailed the achievements of the Roosevelt administration.

The hot dogs really stole the show, tho. Hundreds of pounds of frankfurters were dumped into huge wash boilers over open fires, to be cooked al fresco in the same manner that President and Mrs. Roosevelt had prepared when they entertained the king and queen of England.

If the United States were to be at sword points with a victorious Hitler, it would cost the country from 20 to 40 billion dollars annually to keep up our war machines, Senator Ernest McFarland [D., Ariz.] told the crowd.

BEFORE Billy House lost so much of his hair, friends advised him to see Thomas. But he didn't get around to seeing Thomas until a few days ago, and then the Thomas expert frankly told him that Thomas treatment could not benefit his present scalp condition. Thomas accepts for treatment only persons for whom satisfactory results seem possible.

AFTER Eddie Garr first noticed abnormal hairfall in his comb and brush, he consulted a Thomas expert. Today his scalp condition is considered "perfect"—no more abnormal hairfall, no dandruff, and no scalp itch. He will undoubtedly keep his good head of hair permanently. Prompt attention helps any man to retain his good head of hair.

You, too, should take immediate steps to save your hair if you are to avoid baldness. Don't wait until local scalp conditions have robbed you of a good head of hair. Consult a Thomas expert today. Let him show you how Thomas treatment relieves scalp itch, dandruff, and checks abnormal hairfalls for others, and how Thomas can help you, too, to promote normal hair growth and save your hair. FIGHTING GOES ON AS PERU DELAYS REPLY ON TRUCE

Ecuadorean 'Invaders' Repulsed, Says Lima.

LIMA, Peru, July 27 (AP).—Bloody repulse of 5,000 "invaders of our national territory" and capture of three Ecuadorean outposts were reported here today as Peru delayed her official answer to a request from Argentina, Brazil and the United States to halt border hostilities.

The foreign office declared it had not yet replied definitely, but that it would after consulting the chief executive and other ministers concerned.

[Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles announced in Washington Saturday that Peru had agreed to the setting of a time and date for ending of her hostilities with Ecuador.]

Peru Tells of Victory.

Headquarters of Peru's northern army said a battle that started on July 22 in the Zarumilla river basin had ended in the defeat of Ecuadorean infantry, engineering, and artillery units and Peruvian occupation of their positions at Chacras, Huaquillas, and Balsalito.

It said the Ecuadoreans left six officers and 52 soldiers dead on the field and mentioned the death of only one Peruvian, Lieut. Juan Hoyle.

"War booty captured on the banks of the Zarumilla," the communique said, "included 101 rifles, 100,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, 1,000 anti-aircraft shells, two Breda guns, 11 light machine guns, 200 rounds of machine gun ammunition, 200 hand grenades, several thousand dumdum bullets, telephonic implements, two wireless stations, artillery shells, steel helmets, and complete musical instruments for two army bands."

[Foreign Minister Julio Tobar Donoso of Ecuador was said Saturday night to have informed the United States government that Ecuador would accept any "decorous" measures advanced by the United States, Argentina, and Brazil to end the border clashes. In Guayaquil, Ecuador, a military spokesman said Saturday night that hostilities in the border area head ceased at 6 p. m.]

Peru Explains Stand.

The Peruvian foreign office issued this statement:

"With reference to news from Washington, D. C., saying that Peru accepted a proposal to fix a day and time to halt fighting on the Zarumilla frontier, the foreign office must make it clear that yesterday [Saturday] at 5 p. m., Argentine, Brazilian, and United States ambassadors, going over matters considered the previous day, informed the Peruvian foreign minister that, in view of the agreement reached in Washington, they proposed that Peru halt hostilities Saturday at 6 p. m. The chancellor replied that he would answer after taking up the matter with the chief executive and the ministers of war, navy, and aviation."

8 IN ONE CAR DIE WHEN TRAIN HITS IT; 4 CHILDREN

Dayton, O., July 27 (AP).—Eight persons en route home from a family reunion were killed late today in a grade crossing accident a mile west of Dayton. All lived at West Carrollton, O.

All of the victims, including four children, were riding in one automobile which was struck broadside by the second section of the Pennsylvania railroad's No. 66 en route from St. Louis to New York.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Frederick identified three of the victims as Otto Kline, 55; his wife, Villa, about 50, and their son, Ralph.

The others weer identified tentatively by Mrs. Ben F. Reel as her son, Walter H. Reel, 32; Walter's wife, Mildred, 36; and their three children, Betty, 5; Billy, 3, and Ruth Ann, 2.

Gov. Green to Try Luck Tuna Fishing Off Maine

Ogunquit, Me., July 27 (AP).—Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois made plans today to do some tuna fishing during his vacation here. Since his arrival here July 24, the governor and his family have been spending much of their time on the rocks overlooking the ocean and inspecting this part of Maine. Green plans to return to Illinois for the opening of the state fair Aug. 9.

FLOODED TRACKS STRAND CROWDS IN N. Y. SUBWAYS

New York, July 27 (AP).—Thousands homeward bound after a sweltering day at beaches were stranded tonight in subways and on elevated platforms by a water main break which caused a major transportation tie-up.

Police emergency crews were called to handle unruly crowds of tired New Yorkers who found the principal underground avenues of travel on the upper east side out of order because of the break. At least 15 trains were stalled by flooded tracks above 86th street, Manhattan, and hundreds were led along darkened catwalks to emergency exits in 90 degree heat.

Bursting of a 36-inch main at 125th street flooded the subway as far north as the Harlem river, separating Manhattan from the Bronx. The situation was complicated later by a fire at a circuit breaker in the tunnel at 138th street and 3d avenue, the Bronx, blocking out the Bronx terminals of the east side lines.

Galloping Hills Riders Take Heat in Stride

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

"A Dream Came True on Galloping Hill," sang "Hunt" Henry yesterday to the tune of "Blueberry Hill," thus describing accurately the first annual Galloping Hills Horse show. The dream was Mrs. Louis F. Swift's, for she planned the show and carried it thru to success.

But if Mrs. Swift had dreamed the sort of weather it turned out to be, her dream would have been a nightmare, altho yesterday's heat did not really harm the show. It only made the 1,000 who were there at Galloping Hills, the Swift farm in Wheaton, uncomfortable.

A spectator only had to look at the correctly clad riders to be thankful that she wasn't enduring the heat in their high boots, breeches, coats, stocks, gloves, and bowler hats. A few riders removed coats when jumping, among them subdebs Ginevra Mitchell, Joy Salisbury, Maxine Cooper, Miss Jane Markman, Mrs. Montgomery Orr, and Mrs. Charles H. Coffin Jr. Others, however, including Mrs. Swift, Mrs. William Swift, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Miss Marie Merrill Hubbard, and her sister, Betty, wore full costume all day.

Judy Coffin, who will not be 2 years old until October, had the right riding togs for such a day, for she wore a diminutive bathing suit. Her pony was decorated with blue bows, and together they won the blue ribbon in the costume parade. Sam, the Louis Swifts' younger boy, was second; Mary Ann Luke, third, and Gordon Ellis, fourth. Young Joe Reeves, led by his mother, Mrs. J. Fred Reeves, was the blue ribbon winner in the lead rein class with Gil Bender, second; John White, third, and Peter Easter, fourth.

Ginevra Mitchell took three ribbons home to Lake Forest. She won the Misery farm trophy in the children's jumping class, third in the working hunters, and the team of which she was a member was second in the hunt team class. Joy Salisbury and Mrs. Denison B. Hull were the others of this team. Mrs. Merrill Hubbard's hunt team was first and Maxine Cooper's second. Maxine also was second in the hunter hacks, first in the green hunters, and fourth in the children's horsemanship class. Joy was third in the children's jumping, and the Hubbard sisters carried home fourth in the middle and heavyweight hunters, first and third in the Corinthian class, and first in the hunter stake and ladies' hunters.

Mrs. Orr and Mrs. McIlvaine each enlarged their collection of ribbons yesterday, for Mrs. Orr won third in the hunter stake, Mrs. McIlvaine second in the same class; Mrs. Orr, third in the ladies' hunters, second in the Corinthian and working hunters, and first in the lightweight hunters; and Mrs. McIlvaine, second in the lightweight hunters, first in the working hunters and the side saddle class, and third in the hunter hacks.

Mrs. Louis Swift won three thirds: in the middle and heavyweight hunters, the handy hunters, and the side saddle class. Other winners were Stanley Luke, Nancy Buchanon, Pat Jones, Nancy and Sally Miller, Denison B. Hull, John Connors, Mrs. Grace P. Sherman, Mrs. H. A. Kellner Jr., Jeanne Lee Hester, E. M. Morris, Mrs. Edward Bennett, Miss Eileen Bigelow, John McC. Price, Lieut. Col. P. W. Evans, Peggy Jones, Richard Shell, Theodore A. Mohlman, Miss Jane Markman, and J. J. Casey.

Prize Costume at Horse Show

Tragedy Near Macatawa.

During a recent visit to the ghost resort at Macatawa Park, Mich., a visitor unearthed a 60 year old news story. The story gives a dramatic account of the sailing of the side wheeler Alpena from Holland, Mich., in the teeth of a gale. Wreckage washed ashore the next day gave mute evidence of the tragedy. The reporter states that the boat undoubtedly went down so rapidly that none of the passengers had time to write out a detailed account of the tragedy and consign it to the waves in a bottle. However, a stateroom panel was found with markings which were deciphered by a Hope college professor as follows: "This is awful. The Alpena is breaking up and I am on board. Frank Connell."

* *

Macatawa Park, which has a beautiful situation on a spit of land between Black lake and Lake Michigan, east of Holland, is not entirely a ghost resort. Altho two disastrous fires some years ago destroyed its big hotel and ended its palmy days, its beautiful beach is still here, there is a sprinkling of summer cottages occupied by their owners and one hotel is open. Angel's Flight, the highest dune, is still sought by strollers. Burned foundations of old buildings destroyed in the fires can be seen along the old roads.

Mounting a Mural.

Should some one offer you a mural, you might like to have a little idea of what acceptance entails. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carlson are the proud possessors of a John Pratt mural, 16 feet long by 8 feet high, loaned to them by Orrin and Midge Tovrin while they are living at Hyannis on Cape Cod. They discovered it was quite a problem to mount it. The procedure is to apply paste to the wall space first. Then you unroll about 5 feet of mural, apply paste to the back of the canvas, and hold the roll up while the decorator gets the pasted portion lined up straight and pasted down flat. Then you unroll about 5 feet more of mural and apply paste. The Carlsons arrived at this point, then discovered they had the painting upside down!

Danny's Column.

A young visitor from England, Daniel Negley Farson, age 14, son of Author Negley Farson, waited for F. V. and P. to be written so we could go off to the Telenews theater. He wrote a column, too, while he waited:

PANORAMA.
By D. N. Farson.

The topic is Ravinia and guest conductors. Suddenly a small voice speaks out. "Please, what is a guest conductor? Do you mean that one of the audience is invited to come up and conduct?"

* *

We are wondering whether Robert Sherwood will be altering the play "There Shall Be No Night," for after all Finland is now fighting against Russia and with Germany, and Lynn Fontanne is British.

* *

During the time of the Hess incident, the New York World Telegram captioned an editorial A Mell of a Hess. An excellent description. But what has happened to Hess? As a friend said, "Never has so much been concealed from so many by so few."

* *

One of the aspects of Ravinia that interests and delights me is the way the Guest Conductor wields his baton. Malko looked as if he were fencing, or carving a goose, or as if he were a prosecutor in a law court. Chavez was far more impressive; he looked as if he were painting a very large picture, or making a very passionate and tragic speech, but the music that he produced was better than any words. As far as I can gather Sir Thomas Beecham played Tennis!

200 Guests Sup with Mrs. Lord After Concert

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE 200 who attended Mrs. Russell Lord's supper party Saturday night had good music in abundance, for all had heard the concert at Ravinia Park earlier and at the party they heard a delightful program given by Rudolph Firkusny, Czech pianist who earlier in the season had been a soloist at Ravinia.

Mrs. Lord's guests were a trifle cooler and more comfortable than they had been at Ravinia, perhaps, where they shared the pleasure of hearing the Chicago Symphony orchestra and Yehudi Menuhin with 7,300 other persons. Mr. Firkusny played in the lounge of the Onwentsia club where Mrs. Lord was entertaining and where she lives, but many sat outside on the terrace and around the pool to listen to him. Supper was served before the program from a buffet table at the pool.

Daughters Receive with Mother at Club Supper.

Carlos Chavez, who ended his week as guest conductor at Ravinia yesterday afternoon, was the especial guest at the party. Menuhin and his wife had expected to be there but they had to leave immediately after the concert to take a plane for California. Mrs. Lord wore on the shoulder, of her white dinner gown magnificent lavender orchids that the Menuhins had sent when they found they could not be her guests at supper. Mrs. William Mac Lingo, the former Betty Lord, who had come from her home in Dallas, Tex., received informally with her mother and sister, Miss Kathleen. Mrs. Lingo wore a lovely gown of green and yellow and Miss Lord was in a girlish dress with a black bodice and a bouffant white skirt.

One of the guests, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, was kept busy receiving congratulations on having become a great-grandmother Saturday morning, for word had gotten around that the Junior Joseph T. Ryersons, who live in New Jersey, had become the parents of their first child. The baby, a girl, was born in New York. Mr. Ryerson Sr. went there Saturday afternoon to welcome his first grandchild. The senior Mrs. Ryerson is in California, where she will be joined early this week by the Misses Mary and Anne Ryerson, who have spent the early summer in Lake Forest. Ellen, the baby of the family, is at a camp in Estes Park, Colo.

Malkos Among Other Guests of Mrs. Lord.

Some other guests at the party were Nicolai Malko, who conducted at Ravinia just before Chavez, and Mrs. Malko; John Weicher, the John Broeksmits, the De Forest Hulburds, the George Voevodskys, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, the Winston Eltings, the Scott Bromwells, Mrs. Frank Hixon, the James R. Addingtons, and "Hal" Noble, ex-Chicagoan who was on his way from Philadelphia, where he now lives, to California.

George Szell, Hungarian conductor who arrived yesterday to follow Mr. Chavez on the Ravinia podium this week, will be the house guest of Mrs. Henry Getz in Highland Park while he is here. Leonard Shure, soloist with the Budapest String Quartet, will be the guest of Mrs. Getz during the seventh and last week of the Ravinia season. Mr. Szell will conduct the first of four concerts at Ravinia tomorrow night.

Parties Precede Wedding of Miss Peggy Sargent.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt [Florence Walsh] gave a badminton party yesterday at the Winnetka home of her mother, Mrs. Arthur W. Walsh, for Miss Peggy Sargent and Gene Kerwin Beare, who are to be married on Aug. 16.

Miss Harriett Street is giving a dinner for them tonight, and Miss Margot Webbe is giving a miscellaneous shower tomorrow for Miss Sargent. Miss Margaret and Miss Emily Goehst are entertaining at dinner on Wednesday night, and a group of bachelors will give a beach picnic on Thursday. Mrs. Oliver M. Knode is planning a kitchen shower, and her daughter, Mrs. Arlindo S. Cate, who is to be one of Miss Sargent's two attendants, and Mr. Cate will entertain at cocktails next Sunday.

The wedding is to be small, for the families only. Miss Sargent's sister, Mrs. William H. Wieboldt, will be the other attendant. Theodore Gary will be best man. A reception for young people will follow the ceremony, which will be held in the afternoon. Mr. Beare and his bride will live in Evanston.

Chavez Closes Ravinia Week; Throng Listens at Grant Park

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Carlos Chavez conducting. Presented at Ravinia park, Sunday afternoon, July 27, 1941. The program:
Overture, "Leonore," No. 2.....Beethoven
Classical Symphony.....Prokofieff
Scherzo, "The Sorcerer's Apprentice".Dukas
Suite, from "Love, the Magician"..De Falla
1st and 3d movements of "H. P." Symphony.....Chavez
[First time in Chicago]

BY CECIL SMITH.

An egg probably would have fried nicely in the petunia bed at Ravinia yesterday afternoon with no heat except that of the sun, but the Chicago Symphony orchestra and Carlos Chavez, in his last appearance as guest conductor, battled the temperature successfully. The concert was lively and interesting, and the orchestra played with an accuracy of rhythm and intonation which was miraculous when one considers the usual effects of humidity and perspiration on instrumental performance.

To ring down the curtain on his week's engagement, Mr. Chavez presented for the first time in Chicago two movements of his ballet-symphony, entitled "H. P." [for horse power]. The scenario deals with the life and activity of the tropics and the economic and social interdependence of the tropics and the northern countries.

As might be expected, the music of "H. P." leans heavily on Mexican folk melodies and rhythms. The opening movement, "Dance of the Man," presents its themes with elemental repetitiousness and with uncompromising ferocity of dissonance. "The Tropics," third movement of the ballet, begins in a similar style, but half way thru the idiom changes abruptly, becoming very tonal and full of 18th century counterpoint based on what sounds like a cabaret theme.

As ballet music, "H. P." may perhaps be quite effective. As concert music it suffers because too much of its interest lies in instrumental window dressing and arbitrarily shocking dissonance, and too little in any formal evolution of the musical material.

During the rest of the afternoon Mr. Chavez kept the program charged with vitality. He is a sober and honest musician, preferring to keep a rather objective detachment from other composers' music. But he knows his scores, and altho one might cavil at passing choices of tempo and interpretation, his musical integrity commands respect. He lavished particular care on the classical symphony of Prokofieff and gave an effective performance, in which, if there was any serious fault, he worked a little too hard to bring external effectiveness to a work so well written that it really plays itself without effort.

On Tuesday evening George Szell, Hungarian born conductor, makes his first appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia.

"I HATE WAR"

In an address broadcast to the nation and the world on Sept. 3, 1939—the day that Great Britain and France declared war on Germany—President Roosevelt declared:

"I have said not once but many times that I have seen war, and that I hate war. I say that again and again.

"I hope the United States will keep out of this war. I believe that it will. And I give you assurances that every effort of your government will be directed toward that end.

"As long as it remains within my power to prevent, there will be no blackout of peace in the United States."

Sally Deluged by Letters for Bids to Circus

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

No need to ask how you boys and girls liked the news of our next party as announced in yesterday's TRIBUNE, because the answer is already on my desk in the form of a big bundle of letters from youngsters who want to attend.

Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey have an extra special show this year, and 100 boys and girls will have the opportunity of seeing it with me on Aug. 7. We'll see lions and tigers, clowns, and aerialists and tightrope walkers, riders and jugglers and all kind of exciting things!

I'm sure you boys and girls don't need to have me tell you about what a fine time you can have at a circus—but you need to tell me if you want to come. I want to invite 50 boys and 50 girls who, I think, will enjoy this performance most, and the selection will be made from letters written to me.

Our rules are few and simple:

1. Each child must write his or her own letter.
2. Letters must reach me by next Thursday.
3. You must remember to tell me your full name, address, and age. Of course, I can't invite every boy or girl who writes to me, but I will have invitations for the writers of the best letters.

If this party sounds better to you than almost anything you can think of, get your pencil and paper and tell me all about it, and maybe you'll see your name listed with the winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. The address is just Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

"A Debt Is Paid"

By Olga L. Rosmanith

[Copyright, 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

When Kathleen Murray, New York secretary, inherits an income and a home on Lake Willow, in California, she resigns her job and goes to live in her new home. There she meets Hugo Lang, whose play is being produced in the local Summer theater, and they fall in love. A rich girl, Carol Keyes, is backing the production and insists that she and her current infatuation, Maurice Reed, play the lead rôles in spite of their mediocre ability. Talented Jeanie Payson and Ellen Mount, Hugo's foster mother, who gave up a chance on Broadway to care for Hugo, have minor rôles. Kathleen sends for Toby Allen, her clever 16 year old protégé, to improve the cast. The theme of the drama is murder and promises to be a great success, but Kathleen gets an uncomfortable presentiment when Wilkie Stokes, another member of their colony, discusses the fascinations of killing. Kathleen feels that Ellen Mount does not like her and while she and Hugo are discussing financial and mother-in-law obstacles to their marriage, Jeanie comes up and insists that she speak to Hugo alone. They go off together and early the next morning Jeanie is found strangled to death and Hugo has disappeared.

INSTALMENT XIII.

SOLITARY SEARCH.

Kathleen could visualize George's pursed-up lips and knit brows while he was silent, thinking.

"You said a dear friend of yours?"

"I did."

"That's too bad. Looks like he did it, Kathleen."

"What? You of all people!"

"A lawyer deals with facts. The surface of this case presents a very commonplace design."

"I know. But there are things beneath the surface. You can find them. It's your talent. George, I need you. You must come."

Another brief, nervous silence.

"Tell you what, Kathleen, I'll come when—and if—they find him. I can't do much without seeing him. You get to him and warn him not to talk while he's under arrest."

"It would be better if you were here."

"Sorry, Kathleen, but I don't want to turn my present case over for something less than vital. It's the best that I can do."

"You don't believe in him," she cried from her burdened heart.

She heard his soft familiar laugh.

"A lawyer always believes in his clients. But what could I do waiting about down there? It's not as if I were a detective and could spend time measuring footprints."

"You're right, of course, George."

She put the telephone down with a black feeling of defeat flowing over her like a cold tide. Had she expected that he would rush down on the next plane to California and drop all the important work he was doing? Had she expected faith where she had faith? Quick instant sympathy? She did not know what she had expected.

She went out to Toby. "Mr. Cassell is very busy. He says he'll come when they find Hugo. He says until he can talk to him there's nothing he can do."

"That's right, of course." Toby looked at her with boyish compassion. "You look awfully tired and white, Kathleen. Couldn't you go up and get some sleep now?"

"Sleep!"

"Rest then. You walked miles this morning." He shook up the chintz pillows on the veranda lounge. "Why not lie down here? You might as well rest while you're waiting."

She knew what he meant. Waiting for news of Hugo—dead or alive. Her legs felt limp and useless to support her weight. Toby saw her sway slightly. He caught her arm and helped her to lie down. Kathleen managed to smile at him.

"Your mother did some nice work on you, Toby. I must write and tell her so."

Toby looked embarrassed.

"I think I'll go to Willowdale and see if there's any more news yet. I'll tell Susan to come and see if there's anything you want."

Five leaden days dragged by. Police and public stopped searching the woods and the police issued circulars advertising a description of Hugo under the headline Wanted for Murder. It was added to the rogues' gallery on the notice board in Willowdale postoffice. Kathleen stayed in the house or on her veranda. People followed her and stared or pointed if she showed herself. These five days were her first experience of really bitter suffering in her life. In them she tasted the iron of reality. The necessity to think things thru and make her own decisions—a necessity involving a steely moral courage.

In those sleepless nights—those hot blue summer days—she had ample solitude and time to think. Every detail of that last happy Sunday. From Hugo's reluctance to explore the mountain's cabin, Jeanie's scarf lying on the mattress there, Hugo's ready acquiescence to Jeanie's unreasonable demand that he should leave his hostess and go away to talk with her—to the pathetic tears running down Jeanie's face.

Kathleen stood at her veranda rail looking upward to the sun baked mystery of the mountain top. Just over the summit was that abandoned little house. Jeanie had been there. How often? What for? There was a pat answer to that question. It might be that Jeanie had found the house and explored it just as she and Hugo had found it. Or it could be that she had used it as a rendezvous. If so, who was the man? Wasn't it likely that he, too, might have left some indication of his personality behind?

The temptation to go up there alone and look grew stronger with the waiting hours until Kathleen could no longer resist it. She must go alone. Hugo had been there and would surely have left finger prints or distinctive footprints and these, linked with Jeanie's scarf, would give more power to the convictions of the police. Toby? Kathleen decided not to confide in Toby. Toby was living a mystery story. He suspected everybody. He would not think it safe for her to go alone. She must go when he was not there to see her leave and follow her about.

Now it was Sunday and the local inhabitants freed from work roamed with the vacationers about the countryside. She knew what it would be like. Bigger throngs would be standing staring at the spot where Jeanie's body had been found less than a week ago in the woods. She must hide her seething impatience under her cold, lifeless exterior until Monday and then manage somehow to get unseen into the woods above the hotel so that she would not be followed to that high, unfrequented path. She put out an old dark green linen dress, a shady hat that came down over her eyes, and a pair of dark glasses. Toby slept in a room overlooking the garden in the front of the house. He would not see her on the lake path from his window if she could slip out early in the morning.

This she decided to do. Sleeping fitfully, she knew her nervous anxiety would wake her before dawn, so the ringing of an alarm clock was an unnecessary risk. She went down to the kitchen at midnight, took some food from the icebox for the morning, and hung a card on the knob of her bedroom door—"Do not disturb."

She woke as if a hand had shaken her at half-past four in the morning, got up and dressed stealthily, and left the house before it was light. When the lakeside community began to wake up she was out of danger of observation, high up on the mountain side looking down on the roof of the hotel.

Here the woods had been sullied by the invasion of curiosity. The paths scattered with papers, bottles and cigaret cartons littered about. Kathleen thought with horror, maybe the cabin has already been ransacked. The clean alleys of the woods, contaminated by the carelessness of the mob, were a depressing sight. She could not rest here and eat. And away to the right not far below her was the haunted scene of ugly death. Kathleen leaned against a tree for a little while fighting her repugnance to the brooding loneliness of the forest, then climbed on with an uncomfortably fast beating heart.

An hour's steady progress brought her to the fallen trunk where she had sat beside Hugo a week ago in a brilliantly happy world. Here it was still fragrant and unspoiled. Apparently no one had been here. She sat on the trunk and took the sandwiches from her rucksack. They tasted like wool in her mouth, but she forced herself to eat adequately. Sitting here she recalled Hugo's smile, the frank, amused look of his eyes, his gay mood that day until Jeanie came for him, the unruly untidiness of his hair. The charming dearness of his personality.

A belt knotted around Jeanie's neck! How dare they blame him?

Fear turned her ice cold and her flesh crept. Suppose she found more than a clew over the summit in the cabin. Suppose she found Hugo's body. She wished now she had brought Toby. She had been a fool not to. She could have trusted him.

She sat rigid there, her palms sweating. Dare she go on alone? If she found Hugo dead, would she be able to get back alone thru the vast solitude of the canyon, fear walking behind her shadowing every step? Fear that she would be the next one.

It was strange to feel such cold, deathly fear in the hot pine-smelling sunlight. Her stomach quivered with a qualm of nausea.

We think of pancakes as a cold weather breakfast food, and we serve them most often in the late fall and winter. But there are certain of the griddle cake clan which make appetizing summer breakfasts, and even lunches. F'instance, blackberry cornmeal griddlecakes.

BLACKBERRY CORNMEAL GRIDDLECAKES
[About 15]
1 cup sifted flour
1 cup cornmeal
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1¼ teaspoons salt
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
¾ cup fresh blackberries

Combine and sift together dry ingredients. Beat egg and add to milk. Add to dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Add shortening and berries. Cook on one side, then the other, on a hot griddle. Serve with butter and sirup.

Blueberries or raspberries are delicious in this recipe, too, and also with the following one:

Griddle Cakes With Fresh Peaches
[12 small cakes]
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons melted butter
Chopped, sweetened fresh peaches

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat eggs and add to milk. Beat liquid into dry ingredients. Stir in butter. Drop from the tip of a tablespoon onto a hot griddle. Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over cakes and serve with butter and chopped, sweetened fresh peaches. This is a good luncheon dish.

APPLE PANCAKES
[2 dozen small]
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted fat
1 cup finely chopped apples

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine egg and milk. Add to dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Add shortening and apples. Bake on ungreased griddle. Spread with shaved maple sugar or sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and roll pancakes. Serve with link sausages for late Sunday breakfast or for lunch.

Universal day—A good day for getting things done. Keep busy.

August—For those in an eight year the month of August comes as a lull when things might seem to drag in comparison to the rest of the year. If you have had a truly eight year, that is, made important contacts, increased your earning power, been promoted perhaps or taken a step up in authority, you won't mind this period because it will give you a chance to catch your breath. For those who have been having a negative eight year, perhaps finding financial matters difficult and losing ground in position and power, this period will give you the opportunity to look back and see where you have made your mistakes and you might still be able to catch up on the harvest of the coming months. In any case, get out in the country for a rest if possible.

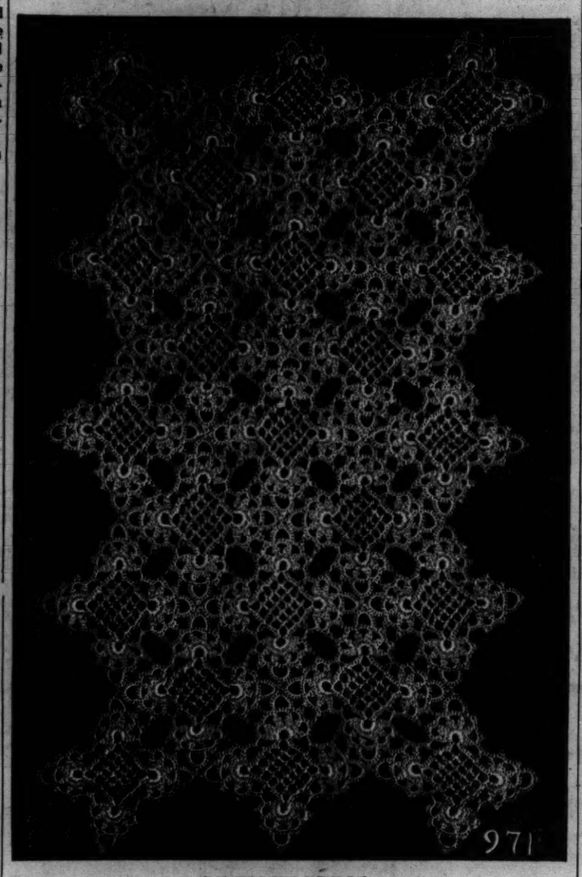
Crocheted Diamond Motif



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a clever little diamond motif which offers a combination of a mesh and cluster design. It creates one of our most attractive luncheon doilies. It is easy to complete one medallion, and 23 are joined for one doily. For the ingenious worker who wishes her crochet art applied to personal glamor this medallion may be crocheted in fine wool, and enough units joined to create a diaphanous evening shawl to be worn over summer dresses.

For instructions in crocheting the diamond motif in mesh and cluster design, No. 971, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 8th avenue, New York City.

return to Lake Forest in time to welcome their three grandchildren, the Alfred Gawthrops' youngsters, who are coming from Plainfield, N. J., about the middle of August. Mr. and Mrs. Gawthrop will come to Lake Forest Sept. 1 for a holiday and to take the children home with them.

Mrs. Edgar L. Marston II. and her two children, Joanne and Edgar III., are visiting her father, Robert F. Carr, in Lake Forest. Mr. Marston came west with his family, but has returned to their Long Island home.

Kellogg Fairbank Jr. has left to join his wife in Santa Fe, N. M. Mrs. Fairbank is visiting her sister, Mrs. Stewart Harvey, who with Mr. Harvey and their children are spending the summer in the New Mexico city. The two Fairbank children are staying with Mrs. Fairbank Sr. while their mother is away.

Roy McWilliamses are Coming Back from France.

After years of residence at Villa Mendigaina, Bidart, France, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McWilliams are coming back to the United States. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph C. Belden, believes that Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams sailed from Lisbon aboard the West Point, but she has not heard definitely whether they are on board. Mr. McWilliams was American consul at Biarritz.

Missing from Lake Forest activities for a few weeks is Miss Kay Keehn, Gen. and Mrs. Roy D. Keehn's debutante daughter. She is convalescing from an operation at St. Luke's hospital, where she will spend a week or 10 days more.

Houses at Premium This Summer in Lake Forest.

There's hardly an empty house in Lake Forest this summer, for families that are on holidays elsewhere have leased their homes to Chicago residents for the season. The Allyn D. Warrens are occupying Mr. and Mrs. Stuart H. Otis' home while the Otises are in Desbarats, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings are in Mrs. Thomas Marston's house, where the younger Cummings' sons, Arthur and Edward, are spending part of the warm weather months. Edward is a Yale junior. Walter Jr. is getting law experience in the department of justice in Washington, D. C.

The David B. Pecks, who will return to the Whitehall in the fall, are in a cottage at the Onwentsia. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Aldrich have gone to Fish Creek, Wis., for the summer, and the William R. Odells, who make their home at the Churchill in the winter, are in the Aldrich house.

Tailored Summer Frocks

MISS' SUMMER FROCKS.

Simply tailored, these two summer frocks will give a world of pleasure. One is nautically styled, complete with fly away sailor collar, bib front, and emblem on the sleeve [this is No. 11207, to be ordered separately]. The other is a jumper model with low back, fitted bodice, and very full skirt which has diagonal patch pockets and a bow in back, if you wish. This frock is ideal for sun bathing, and active sports, too.

Style No. 2838 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.
Style No. 2891 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.
Each of the three patterns costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

In this picture the movie industry accords gracious recognition to a great and good woman—Edna Gladney, superintendent of the Texas Children's Home and Aid society at Fort Worth. . . .

Her life inspired the production only, for—says a foreword: "Except for the rôles of Edna Gladney and Sam Gladney, and except for the Texas Children's Home and Aid society, all events, characters, and institutions depicted in the photoplay are fictitious. . . ."

Well—that's all right. The rich kernel is sound and the moving story built on the factual material of a woman's determined, compassionate, and unselfish effort to bring happiness into the lives of unfortunate children is one that should reach the hearts of young and old alike.

The film, lusciously photographed in technicolor, depicts Edna Gladney building on a foundation of tragedy a lofty and beautiful edifice of service. . . . The suicide of one she had loved as a sister and the death of her small son act as motivation for her life work in the interests of child welfare.

The action opens in the year 1906. . . . In the luxurious Kahly home preparations are being made for the wedding of Edna Kahly and her foster sister, Charlotte—a double wedding that never occurs. . . .

Edna marries happily and all is rosy for a number of years—then happen the events—and their results—which the picture shall show you. . . .

Greer Garson, who did such memorable work in "Good-by Mr. Chips" and "Pride and Prejudice," plays Mrs. Gladney with a sure and sympathetic touch. Miss Garson never slops over. And she IS such a charming person!

Walter Pidgeon is all the most demanding could ask in the rôle of Edna's adoring husband and you will greatly like Felix Bressart as the doctor who so gallantly stands by. . . . As for the children—they are everywhere with never ending pulls on your commiseration and partisanship. . . . Some arresting bits are contributed by Henry O'Neill, Fay Holden, and Clinton Rosemond. You'll find engraved on your memories a certain court scene, during which, without a word being spoken, Mrs. Gladney makes a vitally important communication to the judge—played by Mr. O'Neill.

Mrs. Gladney, says the press sheet, has devoted 30 years to her work and in that time has found happy homes for more than 2,000 babies!

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 27.—Sunday—Good news about the dicker that's on: Eddie Cantor to return to both stage and screen in a musical comedy version of John Cecil Holm's "Three Men on a Horse." The Warners plan to do it, first at the Hollywood theater in New York in the fall, then on the screen. Holm, Joe Quillan, and Izzy Ellinson to do the book, and maybe Rodgers and Hart to write music and lyrics. Cantor and Al Lewis to be the Broadway sponsors, and the title of the show to be "Banjo Eyes." Eddie hasn't appeared on Broadway since "Whoopee," 13 years ago.

Monday—A day off, and nothing much accomplished, and in the evening to David O. Selznick's studio, where they have dug up a fine old film for us to see, "A Star Is Born." Anybody out here says it's the best film about Hollywood ever made, and I hasten to agree. Filmed in color in 1937, it could be shown today with no apologies for style or styles, and its story is simple and true and not cynical. As I watch Fredric March playing a very drunken movie star, I cannot help thinking of him in his present rôle—that of the Rev. Spence in "One Foot in Heaven."

Tuesday—To the Warner filmery to interview Joan Leslie, a mighty sweet young girl who has become a star in less than a year, and then around the lot to see what's shooting. Elliott Nugent is making tests of people for "The Male Animal," and is doing a scene with a stock contract lass who looks mightily like Gene Tierney—but she isn't being tested for the Tierney rôle.

Wednesday—The usual midweek of typewriter pounding begins and lasts all day—with, I hope, no pain to anybody. . . . To RKO in the late afternoon, where Anna Neagle and Herbert Wilcox are having a farewell cocktail party. They are flying to England, where Anna will make a film biography of Amy Johnson, England's Amelia Earhart. They are going by Clipper. There were stories that they might, in order to save time, fly in a new bomber, but Miss Neagle explains that the notion has been given up. She was persuaded that Pan-American would be simpler even tho slower on account of the transfer at Lisbon. "In a bomber," she says, "I'd have to sit on the floor for 10 hours because there are no accommodations for passengers."

Thursday—A day at the desk, and odds and ends of information draft in. John Murray Anderson, who staged Billy Rose's historically successful shows at the Diamond Horseshoe in New York, is opening his own theater restaurant here, called John Murray Anderson's Silver Screen.

Friday—To Republic, to watch Billy Conn emote in a scene for "Pittsburgh Kid." Billy says making a picture is not soft money and fighting is.

Saturday — To 20th-Fox to watch John Ford direct a scene for "How Green Was My Valley" and to see Laurel and Hardy do a bit for their first picture in two years.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Too many players regard a penalty double as sacred, the one call that must not be "disturbed." It is queer that partners who are not trusted in any other department of bidding are given sublime faith whenever they double the opponents!

The fact is that a penalty double should be accorded the same respect that any other bid deserves, but no more respect! The doubler's partner should not hesitate to take out the double whenever his judgment, based on his own holding and the preceding bidding, dictates such action.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 spade	2 hearts
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West, having passed originally, was in quite a dilemma when South overcalled with two hearts. He had the absolute limit consistent with his original pass. Surely he could not pass again and mislead East completely. A free spade raise on only two trumps was scarcely attractive; two no trump, without a heart stopper, was equally dangerous; three diamonds or three clubs, on a sketchy four card suit, had little to recommend them, hence, all in all, the penalty double was West's best available action.

East's leave-in of the double, however, was not logical. He had opened on minimum honor strength, and besides, he had bid a suit which he would not want led. He should have played safe and, at the same time, shown the nature of his hand, by taking out the double to three diamonds. Then West could have raised to five diamonds, which would have been a lay down contract.

The doubled two heart contract was defeated one trick, but this was poor compensation for the vulnerable game East-West could so easily have made.

Chicago Woman's Club to Hear Lecture on Noise

Jules R. Jenkins, president of the Greater Chicago Noise Reduction council, will address the Chicago Woman's club at 2 o'clock tomorrow and will show the motion picture, "The Physics of Sound." The club has invited members of other women's organizations to attend this meeting at club headquarters, 410 South Michigan avenue. Tea will be served with Mrs. William E. Duffell in charge.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Ordinarily we moan at the very thought of a triple vanity. Most of them are distressingly gadgety. But there's one of which we have become extremely fond. It's been put to a lot of use, under which it stood up wonderfully, and we find that tho we have several vanities from which to choose we automatically reach oftenest for this.

It's a good looker, not too big or heavy, and it's so exceptionally well made that it gives beautiful service. It never develops hinge trouble, for one thing, and you never sacrifice a nail tip trying to get at its various compartments. It is sturdy gold metal, with the top in either white or black enamel, with baroque gilt trim for the four outer edges.

The base of the vanity is the generous powder well for loose powder. The puff is flat and large enough to give good coverage. The rouge compartment is in the top, separated from the base with one of those highly polished metal mirrows. And attached to the outside of the case is the lipstick, looking unbelievably decorative and very much a part of the whole vanity.

The stick isn't a huge one, but neither is it just a teaser. It'll give you plenty of service for a long time—and there are refills available when you need them. The quality of the lipstick is excellent.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In the most complete distribution of individual championships in the 12 year history of the meet, the Oak Park club and Shawnee Country club tied for the girls' team title and the New Trier club won the boys' team championship in the Chicagoland 100 yard swim finals yesterday afternoon in California park pool. No club or organization won more than one of the ten individual titles. The event was sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The Oak Park club scored six points when Marilyn Billquist won the title in class C [15 and 16 years of age] defeating Frankie Rose of Bloomington, Ill., and Lois Wenzel of Shawnee. Helen Oltman of the Oak Park club followed with one point for third place in the class D championship race.

Score for Shawnee Club.

Shawnee Country club's points came from Miss Wenzel's third place and the class B title won by Alice Miller.

Second places by two New Trier High school boys, Dick Howell Jr. of Wilmette, son of the one time Olympic champion, and Graham Davis, Winnetka, Ill., won the team championship for the somewhat hastily formed New Trier club.

No other organization could gain more than an individual title. Winners of the first three boys' championships in classes A, B, and C, respectively, were Rusty Garst, Madison, Wis., YMCA; Robert White, 111th Street YMCA, Chicago, and Dick Upsall, Midwest Athletic club. Upsall was a former winner in a lower age class.

Richard Lyon Wins in Class D.

Richard Lyon of Pasadena, Cal., who holds the Southern California AAU sprint titles and who will enter Yale university this fall, won the class D championship. The men's senior title and final race of the afternoon, went to Robert C. Bennett of Highland Park, a member of Yale's record breaking 400 yard relay team.

As might be expected Lyon and Bennett turned in the fastest times for the 100 yard course which consisted of three turns across the California pool. Lyon won his Class D title by two yards over Robin Middlemas of the Milwaukee, Wis., Athletic club, in 55½ seconds. Middlemas pressed the California champion all the way. Bennett won the Class E title easily from John Walsh of Gary, Ind. His time was 56 4-5 seconds. Jack Leppla, University of Illinois student representing the McKinley YMCA of Champaign, was third.

White Surprises in Class B.

The sprints for the lower age division championships held most interest for the spectators who massed on both sides of the pool. Young Garst beat Jack Tully of Kenosha, Wis., Youth Foundation while Ray Kelly of Bellfuss natatorium pushed both as he finished third in Class A. Bob White was a surprise victor in Class B.

Dianne Cook, a finalist last year, took the girls' Class A title from Polly Givler of Naperville, and Virginia Barthell of Peoria, Jane Cloyd, who won in Class B in 1938 and took the Class C title last year yesterday added the class D championship. In the girls' senior class Betty Harrison of the Chicago Towers club, altho only 17 years old, won from Shirley Davis of the Midwest A. C. and Virginia McEvoy of Joliet.

PASKVAN LEADS FULL BACKS IN ALL-STAR POLL

Wisconsin Plunger Piles Up 706,816 Votes.

George Paskvan, who for the last two years carried on Wisconsin's tradition of brilliant full backs, yesterday made one of the most notable gains in his football career. The 200 pound Badger star plunged into the lead in the race among intercollegiate football's outstanding line smashers as the deadline approached in the nation-wide poll to select the starting College All-American team to meet the champion Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field Aug. 28.

Paskvan this morning has a total of 706,816 votes, heading a group of the finest full backs the nation's universities and colleges have produced in the All-Star poll since the game was originated in 1934. Trailing Paskvan by approximately 23,000 votes is Milt Piepul of Notre Dame. Paskvan and Piepul are followed by John Kimbrough, hero of the Texas A. and M. eleven which lost only one game in two years, and Norman Standlee of Stanford's unbeaten Rose bowl champions.

Others Make Bids.

The select list includes the names of several others who came thru successfully when yardage was desperately needed in important games last fall in the east, south and the far west. They are George Kracum of Pittsburgh; Bob Peoples of Southern California; Jasper Davis of Duke and Fred Gloden of Tulane. Two other powerful ball carriers — Bob Morrow of Illinois Wesleyan and Don McKeever of St. Benedict's — who have not had the benefit of national publicity, are making strong bids for places on the All-Star squad.

Paskvan soared to the top of the full back list as thousands of votes rolled in from Western conference centers, metropolitan cities and his home town of La Grange, Ill., the quiet village 15 miles southwest of Chicago's loop. If Paskvan continues to hold his margin he will be the second Wisconsin full back to start against the champions of the National Football league in the All-Star game. Howie Weiss was the Badgers' first representative in 1939 against the New York Giants.

Plays One Year in High School.

Paskvan, who played only one year of high school football as a guard, was named Wisconsin's most valuable player in 1939 and 1940, following in the footsteps of two other Badger full backs similarly honored, Eddie Jankowski in 1935 and 1936 and Weiss, now of the Detroit Lions, winner in 1937 and 1938. Weiss was awarded THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's Most Valuable player trophy in 1938.

If the tremendous support ball carriers are receiving continues for the next 24 hours the All-Stars will present an all Western conference back field against the Bears. It may be composed of Half Backs Tommy Harmon of Michigan and George Franck of Minnesota; Quarterback Forest Evashevski of Michigan and Paskvan. Harmon has regained the individual lead in the poll with a total of 952,427 votes.

Poll Closes Tomorrow.

The voting contest, which is being conducted by THE TRIBUNE and 264 associated newspapers and radio stations in 44 states, will come to a close at midnight tomorrow. However, final standings are not expected to be announced until Thursday morning.

W-G-N TO OFFER ZIVIC-COCHRANE FIGHT TONIGHT

The 15 round welterweight championship bout between Champion Fritzie Zivic and Freddy Cochrane in Ruppert stadium, Newark, N. J., will be described in an exclusive ringside broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network tonight from 9 p. m. until its completion. Don Dunphy will give the blow by blow account.

The White Sox split even with the Yankees yesterday in New York, winning the second game, 7 to 3, after losing the first one, 9 to 5. Story on page 19.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Thru the good offices of Vern Olsen, the lefty, the Cubs were able again yesterday to smother the idea that they are in the National league merely to keep Bill Terry's Giants happy. Mr. Olsen not only pitched, but also did some hitting and with aid from the bats of his fellow workers, had no trouble subduing the New Yorkers, 9 to 2. The accomplishment gave Jim Wilson's sixth placers the series, 2 to 1, as well as their sixth success in 17 meetings with the Giants.

Much of the happiness spread around Wrigley field by the Cubs was at the expense of the long, lean lefty named Cliff Melton. Clyde McCullough felt out the big fellow with his sixth homer of the season in the second, but in the next inning the firing was so severe that Fiddler Bill McGee came galloping to the rescue. By the time the Fiddler arrived the Cubs had compiled a cluster of four more runs, which was more than needed by Olsen, who having done a lot of base running, was excused after eight innings.

Olsen Starts a Rally.

For two innings Melton's pitching was good enough to hold the Cubs to one hit, but this blow happened to be McCullough's homer into the left field terrace.

With the one run lead for an appetizer, Olsen decided to improve the situation himself. He opened the third with a double to left and Melton, after disposing of Stan Hack and Charley Gilbert, lost control. He walked Dom Dallessandro and Bill Nicholson, loading the bases. Babe Dahlgren's single sent Olsen and Dallessandro home and when Dick Bartell heaved wild on the relay, Nicholson also scored. McCullough's single registered Dahlgren, and Melton turned the pitching over to McGee.

Arnovich Causes Some Trouble.

A pass to Morrie Arnovich followed by singles from Mel Ott and Hank Danning presented the Giants with a run in the fourth. They broke out again in a mild way in the sixth. Arnovich led off with a single and sprinted to third when Ott sneaked a single past Dahlgren. Danning obliged by bouncing to Bobby Sturgeon for a double play, Arnovich scoring.

The three runs scored in the eighth could not be entirely charged against

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

CECIL ISBELL, hero of the All-Stars' 28 to 16 victory over the Washington Redskins in 1938 and star of Green Bay's 45 to 28 triumph over the All-Americans last year, says election to the All-Stars' starting lineup is the greatest honor that can come to a football player, college or professional. . . . Ambrose Schindler of Southern California, whose exploits for the All-Stars in last year's game will live as long as the series survives, will come from Los Angeles to accept the trophy voted him as the collegians' most valuable player. . . . Schindler, a Rose bowl veteran, says participation in last year's All-Star game was his greatest thrill in football. . . . Chicago's city series will open in Comiskey park this fall, giving home staying Chicagoans the earliest possible chance to see the Cubs' baby blue travel costumes. . . . Eddie Daugherty, Red Sox press agent, travels with the team and saves the authors the necessity of cluttering their fertile minds with statistics. . . . The Difference.

Mansions are built by masons,
Experts in skill and art,
But homes are built by persons,
Who give to the house their heart,
A house springeth up from under,
But a home cometh down from above,
A house can be built of lumber,
But a home must be built of love.

Thank you, I'm just looking.

I haven't enough change with me right now.

I'll let you know tomorrow.

They're all so lovely I just can't decide.

No, don't hold it. I'll be back. If it's gone, that's my loss.

I'll call you back later. I think there's somebody at the door.

Hitler's to Blame.

Caddies are scarce this summer at Tippecanoe Lake Country club in Indiana and it was my luck to draw one who never had been out. On the fifth I hooked into the woods. We looked quite a while for the ball and I was about to give up when my opponent said, "Here it is." At which my caddie piped up, "I knew where it was all the time, but I didn't think I was allowed to tell." —A. K. S.

DIRECTED IOWA AND TROJANS TO FOOTBALL FAME

Teams Unbeaten in 5 Rose Bowl Games.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27 [Special].—Howard Harding Jones, University of Southern California football coach since 1925, died of a heart attack at his home today. He was 55 years old.

Jones, who had coached at Syracuse, Yale, Ohio State, University of Iowa, and Trinity [now Duke] before coming to Southern California, was one of football's best known figures. In addition to developing famous players, his Trojan elevens captured or tied for eight Pacific coast championships in 16 years and won the five Rose bowl battles in which they participated. His football career covered 29 seasons at the six colleges.

Jones had complained of indigestion for several days and this morning called a physician. A few minutes later he collapsed and was dead when the physician arrived.

His widow Jane, who has been ill for several years, is in a sanitarium here.

The Trojan coach also leaves a son, Clark, who left yesterday on a vacation trip to Alaska, and a daughter Carolyn, 14. Other survivors are Tad Jones, former coach at Yale and two other brothers, Tom and Clarence.

Begins Coaching in 1908.

The annual games between Notre Dame and Southern California teams coached by the tall, taciturn Jones were followed by every gridiron fan in the country. At Iowa, after having two mediocre teams in 1916 and 1917, he started on his way to national fame coaching undefeated teams in 1921 and 1922.

Jones began his coaching career at Syracuse in 1908 after graduation from Yale, where he had been a star left end and a pitcher for three years on the baseball team. His Syracuse squad won five, lost two and tied one. He returned to Yale the following year, coaching a squad which included the famous Ted Coy to ten consecutive triumphs. After one year terms at Syracuse, Yale, and Ohio State, Jones did not coach in 1911, '12, '13. He returned to Yale in 1914 when his team first met Notre Dame. Yale scored a 28 to 0 victory. In 1915 he again was without a coaching job. The following season he moved to Iowa.

Jones' Iowa team of 1918 lost only to the powerful Great Lakes Naval Training station and to Illinois' Big Ten champions. In 1919 and 1920 the Hawkeyes were beaten only by Illinois and Chicago, years in which the Devine brothers, Aubrey and Glenn, were football players of fame. Duke Slater, famous Negro tackle, also was a member of those elevens.

Unbeaten in 1922, Too.

The Devines and Slater helped Iowa thru an unbeaten season in 1921, in which the Hawkeyes defeated Notre Dame, 10 to 7, to deal the Irish their only loss in 11 games that season.

Gordon Locke rose to the heights in 1922 to carry on for the Devines, and Slater, and Iowa again was unbeaten.

Jones directed Iowa to 20 straight victories, including the last two games of 1920 and the first three of 1923. The string was snapped by the Illinois combination of Red Grange and Earl Britton, 9 to 6. After 1923 Jones left Iowa for a one year stop at Trinity college getting an even break in eight games. He then went to Southern California.

The scores of Jones coached teams against Notre Dame follow:

1914—Yale, 28; Notre Dame, 0.
1921—Iowa, 10; Notre Dame, 7.
1926—Notre Dame, 13; U. S. C., 12.
1927—Notre Dame, 7; U. S. C., 6.
1928—U. S. C., 27; Notre Dame, 14.
1929—Notre Dame, 13; U. S. C., 12.
1930—Notre Dame, 27; U. S. C., 0.
1931—U. S. C., 16; Notre Dame, 14.
1932—U. S. C., 13; Notre Dame, 0.
1933—U. S. C., 19; Notre Dame, 0.
1934—Notre Dame, 14; U. S. C., 0.
1935—Notre Dame, 20; U. S. C., 13.
1936—U. S. C., 7; Notre Dame, 7.
1937—Notre Dame, 13; U. S. C., 6.
1938—U. S. C., 13; Notre Dame, 0.

LAYDEN SIZES UP ALL-STAR GAME: EXTRAORDINARY!

It's Test of Coach's Ability with Great Material.

BY ELMER LAYDEN.

[Commissioner of professional football, former athletic director and head coach at Notre Dame and a member of the 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939 All-Star coaching staffs.]

What do you suppose I can say in a series on famous All-Star scoring plays? I was head coach of the All-Stars in 1939. The score of that game was 9 to 0. The New York Giants had the nine.

The All-Stars, however, played a superb game of football. Their performance was worth all the effort our coaching staff put into the game. George Faust of Minnesota, Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross, Davey O'Brien of T. C. U., and Billy Patterson of Baylor were some of the outstanding men in our lineup. In the Giant lineup the stars were Ken Strong and Ward Cuff, the fellows who kicked the field goals.

They Do It with Ease.

It wasn't very comforting to see those kicks sail over the bar, but there was no getting away from admiring the expertness and ease with which Cuff and Strong booted those long ones. What was more surprising, tho, was the condition of the Giants. They were in the pink.

Looking back over the eight year history of the All-Star game, it becomes obvious that this contest between the world champion professional eleven and the pick of the graduating college stars is the most important single factor in the development of football since Gus Dorais [a former All-Star head coach] and the late Knute Rockne revolutionized the sport by introducing the forward pass on the plains of West Point as a major offensive weapon.

It has brought professional football across the tracks into polite athletic society and has provided college men with an opportunity to close out their careers with one last coveted fling in a genuinely spectacular attraction.

Another Great Game Ahead.

This year's game, the eighth in the series, can be expected to take its place as one of the most exciting contests of any season, what with such great players as Tom Harmon of Michigan, Dean McAdams of Washington, Chester Gladchuk of Boston college, and Paul Christman of Missouri available to oppose the Chicago Bears on Aug. 28.

From a coach's standpoint, and I believe I can speak freely here, having been on four All-Star staffs and no longer being a coach, the opportunity to work with a squad of 70 of the finest college players in the country offers an opportunity that cannot be ignored. Selection on the All-Star staff is a challenge to a coach's ability for organization and ingenuity.

Molding men from many localities, various systems and diverse personalities into a unit for an important contest in the space of three weeks presents many problems to test a coach's mettle. Bernie Bierman had to experiment and figure and shift his lineup daily in search for linemen. Dorais in 1937 had the incomparable Sammy Baugh to pass and had to work overtime to find capable receivers to pair with Gaynell Tinsley, L. S. U.'s great end. Bo McMillin was faced with a problem of fashioning a defensive team out of a personnel gifted with unlimited offensive talent. It is a tribute to the ability of these men that each was able to conquer the obstacle faced.

Horton Smith Wins St. Paul Open with 276

St. Paul, Minn., July 27 (AP).—Horton Smith won the St. Paul Open golf championship with a magical putter today. The 33 year old native Missourian, now registering out of Pinehurst, N. C., scored a final round 63—nine under par—for a 72 hole total of 276 shots for first money of $1,600.

Ralph Guldahl of Chicago finished second with 277 on a pair of 69s as against Smith's morning round 70 and his 63. The victor had opening rounds of 69 and 74 as against Guldahl's first rounds of 68-71. Smith's 63 tied the tourney record of a single round.

Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee, Mass., put together rounds of 68 and 71 today to finish third at 279, with Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., getting 280 with final rounds of 71 and 69. He was tied by Johnny Bulla of Chicago, who had 70 and 72 today, and Joe Coria of St. Paul, the young pro who set the pace thru 54 holes only to falter with a final round 74.

CLARK DEFEATS SHOSTROM FOR PARKS NET TITLE

Johnny Clark of Hamilton park, defeated Charles Shostrom of the same club, 0-6, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5, for the Chicago Public Parks Tennis association men's singles title yesterday in Waveland park.

Mitzie Radek, Grand Crossing park, won the women's title by defeating Phyllis Tingle, Kosciuszko park, 6-4, 6-0. In men's doubles Shostrom and John Jorgenson won from Mel Timmons and George Buckler, Ogden park, 6-3, 2-6, 10-8, 6-1.

The winners qualified to compete in the National Public Parks tournament beginning Aug. 11 in Minneapolis.

Hyde Park to Top Arlington Closing Cards

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Now that the Classic has been run off with its traditional upset, Arlington Park goes into the last four days of its meeting, pointing toward the $5,000 Hyde Park stakes, which will be run Thursday.

Washington Park will follow right up on Friday with the opening of a meeting which is scheduled to run for 32 days. The outstanding events will be the $40,000 American Derby on Aug. 23, the $25,000 Washington Park handicap on Labor day, and the $20,000 Futurity on Aug. 16.

Alsab Returns from East.

Al Sabath's fleet two year old, Alsab, has returned from his successful invasion of the east and will make Thursday's Hyde Park stakes his next objective. Subsequently he will run in the Washington Park Futurity. Alsab won the Joliet stakes at Lincoln Fields and the Primer stakes at Arlington before going to Suffolk Downs to finish second in the Miles Standish and first in the Mayflower.

He tied the track record in the latter event. Accordingly he will be the outstanding favorite in the Hyde Park stakes.

The Calumet farm's speedy juveniles, Sun Again, Some Chance, and Wishbone, who ran one-two-three in the Arlington Futurity, are not expected to match speed with Alsab in the near future because they are scheduled to be shipped to Saratoga early this week.

Attention Goes Back East Today.

Attention, conqueror of Whirlaway in the Classic stakes on Saturday, will start back east today. Trainer Max Hirsch said that he is not planning a particularly heavy campaign because this colt will have to be handled carefully. He is not quite rugged enough to stand a long and severe succession of engagements, particularly in view of the fact that he has only recently recovered fully from a wrenched hip which he incurred late last season. When asked what stakes Attention is likely to be sent into, Hirsch replied that he was operating on a week to week basis, and he'd just wait and see how the colt went along.

Whirlaway, on the other hand, is expected to go right ahead as tho nothing had happened. Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones have planned a schedule which includes the Travers at Saratoga, the American Derby, Washington Park, and the Lawrence Realization at Belmont.

BUBBLING OVER WINS SHERIDAN YACHTING EVENT

Bert Williams and Dr. Stanley Fahlstrom sailed their Star class sloop Bubbling Over to victory yesterday in the opening race of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's annual race week off Wilmette harbor. Gemini, Commodore John T. Pirie's entry, finished second. Gale, sailed by Harry Nye Jr. and Bob Vested, placed third. The series continues this afternoon.

Flame, Avery Hand's Vermillion [Ohio] Yacht club sloop, the only visiting entry, placed 11th.

The Chicago Corinthian Yacht club's Snipe class fleet won the Montrose-Wilmette Perpetual trophy yesterday in the third annual race with the Wilmette Yacht club's Snipes. The races, sailed off Montrose harbor, were won by Bob Johnson in his Samoa, with John Mohr's Mercury second and Bernie Lavender's Renegade third.

Berwyn Legion Nine Evens Title Series with Eureka

Kankakee, Ill., July 27 [Special].—Berwyn, Cook county junior American Legion baseball champion, fought its way into the third game of the Illinois state Legion playoff today with an 11 to 1 triumph over Eureka, downstate title holder. Eureka won the first game yesterday, 7 to 5, and the third game will be played here tomorrow. Joe Vidrá, Berwyn's losing pitcher yesterday, moved to center field today, and led the attack with four hits, one a home run.

SELLERS WINS TITLE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 27 (AP).—Gilbert [Gib] Sellers, Detroit professional, today won the 17th Michican Open golf championship by posting a 277, 11 under par for 72 holes.

THANKS.

The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., wishes to thank the Chicago park district and the Cook county forest preserve district officials, the members of the Chicago Tribune Athletic association and other organizations whose coöperation made possible the success of the 100 yard swimming races at the preliminaries and the championships yesterday.

SOX HALT YANKS, 7-3, AFTER LYONS LOSES 1ST, 9 TO 5

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 27.—Thornton Lee, ace of major league lefties, abetted by a slugging revamped cast, this afternoon pitched the White Sox to a 7 to 3 victory over the Yankees. This wreaked a measure of revenge for the rough way the New Yorkers handled Ted Lyons and a mild Sox offense in the first game of a double header, which the Yanks won, 9 to 5, before 52,304.

It being the New York vogue to loose a new flood of statistics every time the Yankees do or don't do anything, the figure boys dug in for sheaves of records, negative and positive. Here are some of them, with a few purely Chicago notations thrown in:

Lee stopped the Yankee winning streak at 9 straight, even as John Rigney stopped them at 14 straight in Chicago two weeks ago tomorrow.

It's No. 12 for Lee.

Lee destroyed the Yanks' bid for their eighth straight double header victory.

Lee registered his 12th victory of the season, to go far ahead of all other lefties. He's lost 7.

Lyons, tho he was socked for 14 hits in the first game, held Joe DiMaggio to four infield failures in four tries in the first game. But Ted, discouraged by tap-tap support, departed after the seventh, giving Joe a chance to come up against Bill Dietrich in the eighth, whereupon he tripled to run his new streak to 10. Joe made it 11 games with his 23d homer in the second game and had a double and single besides.

Joe Gordon knocked his 17th homer in the first game.

Solters Gets Four Hits.

Moose Solters and Mike Kreevich, recent splinter harvesters, came off the bench in the second game. Solters had four hits in a row, including a 457 foot triple. Kreevich had a single and a double.

The Sox, in smashing six hits off Ernie Bonham in the third inning of the second game, registered the greatest number of hits made off any Yankee pitcher in one inning this year.

It was Bonham's third loss against six victories. The first game was Ruffing's twelfth victory of the season, his ninth straight, against three defeats. Lyons suffered his fifth loss in trying for his tenth victory.

The big crowd lifted the Yankee home attendance total to 802,355 and the Sox, by losing the first game, fell into a won and lost tie with the Athletics, their next foes.

Lyons Is No Puzzle.

Red Ruffing had a 9 to 1 lead when Lyons retired. The Yankees made a run in each of the first four innings, scored a solitary one in the sixth, then bumped Ted for four markers in the seventh. All the runs were accomplished on solid smacking.

The first Sox run came in the second inning and gave them a brief tie. It developed on a walk and singles by Bob Kennedy and Mike Tresh. Singles by Tresh, Kreevich, Don Kolloway, and Luke Appling were factors in the three run eighth.

The Sox were tied, 1 to 1, when they knocked out Bonham in the third inning of the second game with a four run splurge. Kuhel started it with a double and then were such things as Kreevich's single, his steal of second, and successive singles by Solters, Kennedy, Turner, and Lee.

The Yanks made four of their 10 hits off Lee in the third for two runs. Solters scored after tripling when Turner singled in the fifth and the final run came in the seventh. Appling singled, took third on Solters' single and scored while Kennedy was hitting into a double play.

Lee turned back the Yankees twice with the bases filled, in the fifth and eighth.

ATHLETICS SWEEP TWO GAMES FROM TIGERS, 8-1, 7-0

Sam Chapman Hits Home Run in Second Game.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 27 (AP).—The on rushing Athletics swept a double header from the Detroit Tigers before 25,609 at Shibe park today. The scores were 8 to 1 and 7 to 0.

The Athletics now have won seven of their last eight games and are fighting with the White Sox for fourth place.

In the opener Bob Johnson's 19th homer of the year with one on in the first inning gave Jack Knott all he needed to chalk up his ninth victory of the season. Les McCrabb registered his ninth triumph in defeating Buck Newsom in the second game.

GEN'L MOTORS' QUARTER PROFIT IS $53,579,568

Sales Are Largest in Its History.

A consolidated net income of $53,579,568, or $1.18 a common share, was reported yesterday by General Motors corporation for the June quarter. This compares with $46,546,999, or $1.02 a share, in the June quarter of 1940.

The company's sales for the quarter —$699,898,241—were the largest in its history. Of the total, $75,200,000 represented delivery of rearmament products and raised to $209,500,000 the total of rearmament products delivered during the last year.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the corporation, said sales in terms of dollars increased 51.6 per cent, and net income before income and excess profits taxes and contingencies increased 76.6 per cent, while net income after taxes and provisions for possible additional taxes rose only 15.1 per cent.

Skelly Oil company and its subsidiaries reported a net income for the June quarter of $1,770,829, equal to $1.80 a common share, compared with $771,680, or 74 cents a share, in the June quarter of 1940.

Pittsburgh Coal company reported profit of $11,544 for the second 1941 quarter after provision for all charges including a loss of $520,077 incurred during April as a result of the shutdown of the mines. In the second quarter of 1940 the company had a loss of $73,372.

STEEL PRODUCER BUYS 3,200 ACRES OF IRON ORE LAND

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 27 (AP).—A 3,200 acre tract of iron ore bearing land in St. Lawrence county, New York state, has been leased by Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, H. E. Lewis, president, announced today. The company will spend $2,750,000 for construction and equipment needed to develop the property.

H. E. Lewis.

Lewis said the tract, 65 miles east of Watertown, N. Y., on the western slope of the Adirondack mountains, was leased from Benson Iron Company, Inc. The property will be developed as an iron ore mine to supplement present Jones & Laughlin operations and properties in Minnesota and Michigan.

MARITIME UNION LOSES MEMBERS; ITS FUNDS LISTED

New York, July 27 (AP).—A general strike fund of $233,933 was in the treasury of the National Maritime union [CIO] as of March 31, a report on the union's general audit showed today.

The river ports strike fund showed a balance of $8,269, making a total of $242,202. The strike funds represented a $5 assessment from most categories of membership, the union stated, plus interest on deposits.

Membership totaled 60,000, a decline of 5,000 since the beginning of the European war and inauguration of the policy of ship transfers to foreign flags. Withdrawal of large passenger vessels from trans-Atlantic runs threw many stewards out of work, the union reported.

Total income for the fiscal year was given as $703,012. Operating expenses were $638,196.

THREATEN STRIKE ACTION TODAY AT ALUMINUM PLANT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27 [Special].—A strike affecting 2,000 workers at Aluminum Company of America's Vernon plant will be called tomorrow if a dispute between the company and the CIO United Auto Workers is not certified by the department of labor for hearing before the Defense Mediation board in Washington, D. C., John Bacellar, union spokesman, said today.

Accept Part of Peace Plan.

Bendix, N. J., July 28 [Monday] (AP).—Air Associates, Inc., today notified the defense mediation board it would accept three but reject two of the board's five recommendations for ending a 16 day old strike of the CIO's United Automobile Workers union at the company's aircraft accessories manufacturing plant here.

EXPLOSIVES.

I have checked the stock tables of the New York Stock and New York Curb exchanges, as well as some of the other markets, and I have been unable to find any mention of Triumph Explosives, which recently received some government orders for photo-flash bombs. Is this company's stock traded on any organized exchange? I would like a sketch of the company.—H. T.

Answer: The 412,970 shares of $2 par common stock of Triumph Explosives, Inc., are traded in the over the counter market at New York. The company manufactures a wide variety of pyrotechnic devices, including marine and aviation signals, aircraft engine starter cartridges, nondeteriorating batteries for emergency lighting, railroad fuses, and torpedoes.

Current activities of the company, expanded by government work, represent a marked evolution from the original business of making toy fireworks and novelties for July 4th and other celebrations. The company's main plant is at Elkton, Md.

Earnings have registered gradual improvement in recent years, except for a setback in 1939. Net income in the half year ended Jan. 31, 1941, was $88,310, or 21 cents a common share, compared with $71,512 or 17 cents a share in the corresponding period a year earlier.

Results in the last four fiscal years ended July 31 follow:

	Net income.	†Earned per com.	‡Dividends per com.

1940.....	148,906	0.37	0.25

*Loss. †Computed on varying number of shares outstanding each year. ‡In calendar years.

The company paid quarterly dividends of 5 cents each on the common stock Feb. 1 and May 1 this year and another will be paid Aug. 1 to holders of record July 11.

RETIRES IN MARCH.

I have been earning $150 a month regularly for five years as a factory foreman. I will be 65 years old next March and I expect to retire shortly thereafter. What will be my monthly benefit under the old age and survivors' provisions of the social security law and what will my wife receive?—B. E. T.

Answer: If you retire next March, you will receive $31.50 a month, and, if your wife is 65 years old at the time, she will receive an amount equal to one-half your benefit, or $15.75 a month, making a total of $47.25 a month. Forms for estimating social security benefits may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Investors' Guide.

JAPAN PLEDGES TO KEEP PAYING BOND INTEREST

'Freeze' Won't Hit Dollar Issues.

New York, July 27 [Special].—Anxious to maintain its record as one of the few nations which never have defaulted on a foreign loan, Japan has decided to continue to make interest and sinking fund payments on all its dollar bonds, Tsutomu Nishiyama, Japanese financial commissioner in New York, announced today. Nishiyama reported receiving an authorization to make this statement from Tokio.

The announcement follows the late Friday order by President Roosevelt freezing all Japanese assets in this country and the Saturday order in Tokio limiting withdrawals by Americans.

Covers Guaranteed City Issues.

The assurance that debt service will be met, Nishiyama said, covers the bonds of the Japanese government, those of cities and agencies which were guaranteed by the government on issuance, and those of the electric light and power companies which were assumed by the Japan Electric Power Generation company, a government corporation, three years ago.

"It is our hope," the commissioner said, "that the United States government will administer its freezing order in such a way as to facilitate the payment. If it handles the matter so as to shut off all trade, payments will become increasingly difficult, but in any event we shall continue to make them."

Japanese dollar bonds include two issues of the Japanese government, one each of the cities of Tokio and Yokohama, two of the Oriental Development company, two of the Great Consolidated Electric Power company, and one each of the Taiwan Electric Power company, Tokio Electric Light company, Toho Electric Power company, Nippon Electric Power company, Ujigawa Electric company, and Shinetsu Hydro-Electric Power company.

Estimates of Total Vary.

This last issue was not included in the government guarantee of principal and interest given all the bonds which were assumed by the Power Generation company, and Nishiyama did not refer to it specifically.

The total of Japanese dollar bonds outstanding has been estimated by two Washington agencies, one of which set a figure of $103,000,000 and the other $138,000,000. How many of these are held by Japanese nationals and agencies could not be ascertained from published figures, but it is known that the proportion at one time was high. Some of the Japanese dollar bonds held in Japan have been bought by the issuers and cancelled.

Thus it is estimated that Japan will have to find less than the $12,000,000 for annual debt service which would appear to be indicated by the $138,000,000 total.

Start Farmer Resettlement Project Today

Indianapolis, Ind., July 27 [Special].—The first resettlement project for north central states farm families displaced by government munitions factories will get under way tomorrow after a check for $1,078,151 is paid to Thomas Scully of Lincoln, Ill., for 42,000 acres of farm land in Bates county, Missouri.

Other projects in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Ohio will be started as soon as the Farm Security administration has acquired land in the four states thru Defense Relocation corporations to be organized therein.

The Missouri land is in good live stock country and is near the Kansas border. William Lightfoot Jr., assistant regional FSA director and treasurer of the Defense Relocation Association, Inc., estimated it will accomodate between 300 and 400 families with farms of about 120 acres each.

Many Acquire New Land.

Lightfoot said many families displaced by munitions factories already have acquired new land and are on it, but that in so doing they replaced other farmers, mostly tenants who now need some place to go.

The relocation plan provides two methods of acquiring farms. Under the first the farmer may buy a farm outright from the state relocation corporation. Under the second a farmer may apply for a lease of 25 to 50 years. The leasing farmer will be provided with a house, a barn, a well, live stock, and some machinery.

Lightfoot said the government hopes to obtain a 3 per cent return on its investment and to receive enough extra to pay fixed charges.

Three Illinois Sites Studied.

He said approximately 2,500 families have been or will be displaced. They will have a chance to relocate in their home states or to go to other states if land is available there for them.

The FSA is preparing to acquire land in three Illinois counties—Pike, on the Mississippi river, and Alexandria and Pulaski in the southernmost part of the state.

The Indiana tracts will be in Benton, Fountain, and Warren counties.

Sites in Iowa are in Kossuth and Palo Alto counties, and in Ohio the FSA is buying a tract in Franklin county, northeast of Columbus.

Location of a powder factory and shell loading plants in the Wilmington-Elwood area in Will county, Ill., dislocated 290 farm families in an area of 62 square miles.

OPACS AND OPM CALL MEETINGS OF AUTO MAKERS

Washington, D. C., July 27 (AP).—Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office Price Administration and Civilian Supply, has summoned automobile manufacturers to a meeting Tuesday morning to discuss his tentative program for a reduction in passenger car output.

At the same time, the Office of Production Management arranged a meeting with automobile industry representatives for Tuesday.
